

SECOND INJUNCTION IN MILK STRIKE OBTAINED AS FARMERS CONTINUE BLOCKADES, DUMPPINGS

CLARK HOWELL, SR., NAMED ON BOARD TO STUDY RAILS

Constitution Publisher Joins Coolidge, Baruch, Alexander Legge and Al- fred E. Smith on Finan- cial Commission.

SEEK NEW LAWS TO ASSIST LINES

All Financial and Busi- ness Associations, Colum- bia, Yale, Princeton and Harvard Assist Group.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Herald Tribune says that Calvin Coolidge in accepting the chairmanship of the non-partisan railroad commission tomorrow or Wednesday will be joined by Alfred E. Smith, Bernard M. Baruch, Clark Howell and Alexander Legge.

Sponsoring the commission in its efforts to obtain legislation which will bulwark the financial foundations of the railroads, the newspaper says, are the following organizations and institutions:

American Bankers Association, Investment Bankers Association, Association of Life Insurance Presidents, New York Chamber of Commerce, Chicago Association of Commerce, United States Association of Commercial Banks, National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, New York State Bankers Association, Savings Bank Association of New York State and Railway Labor Executives Association.

Also Columbia, Yale, Chicago, Princeton and Harvard universities, Security Owners Association and National Industrial Traffic League, as well as industrial organizations such as manufacturers' associations and shippers' conferences.

Baruch, the only railroad man on the commission, is a director of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; Howell is editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and Legge is president of the International Harvester Company and a former chairman of the federal farm board. Former Governor Smith is expected to attract the attention of the laymen to railway problems.

U. S. Balloon Is Seen As Winner of Race

BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 26.—(AP)—One of two American balloons which was believed the victor in the classic James Gordon Bennett cup race, after all the other entrants had been reported grounded.

These were the United States navy craft, piloted by Commander E. G. W. Settle, which was last sighted on the outskirts of Warsaw, and the Goodyear No. 8, unreported since the take-off from Basel yesterday.

The only other balloon known to have gone about as far as Warsaw was the Polish bag Gdynia, which traveled 1,078 kilometers or about 670 miles to Bielany, near Warsaw, where it was grounded at 10:05 a. m.

The Belgian, piloted by Ernest De Mutyer, the Belgian, and intense rivalry between the two nations, the pilot of the Goodyear No. 8, reported tonight it had been forced to land near Gorzowice, Poland, 150 miles southwest of Warsaw. A snowstorm was blamed.

Schmeling Beats Walker By Technical Knockout

Max Schmeling, of Germany, the former heavyweight champion, wrote the final chapter on the championship aspirations of gallant Mickey Walker at Long Island City, N. Y., Monday night when he was awarded a technical knockout over the "toy bulldog" at the end of the eighth round of their scheduled 15-round bout.

Schmeling won the fight, but the glory was shared by Walker, whose lion heart made him stand up under one of the most terrific beatings ever given a fighter. Schmeling beat and slashed Walker unmercifully in the final round, after he had taken a big lead at the start of the fight only to have Walker stage a surprising comeback and hold a slight lead when what proved to be the final round began.

Full details of the fight will be found in the sports section.

LEAGUE ON TRIAL, DE VALERA WARNS ANNUAL SESSION

Irish Free State Presi- dent Opens Assembly With Declaration All Nations Must Have Voice

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—(AP)—President Eamon De Valera, of the Irish Free State, opened the thirteenth annual assembly of the League of Nations today with a declaration that if the league is to meet its responsibilities as the guardian of world peace it must pursue a uniform policy toward both weak and strong nations.

Mr. De Valera told the assembly that the League had been criticized as impotent and decadent. Much of this criticism is justified, he asserted, and the League now may be considered as a defendant "at the bar of public opinion."

Some of the Free State president's hearers asserted the assembly was getting underway in an atmosphere of depression. The sense of the extreme stubbornness of current international problems was increased by adjournment of the disarmament conference steering committee for a fortnight without any material progress having been registered.

Henderson Optimistic.

Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, was optimistic, however, about the eventual outcome of his labors to impel Germany to return to the party.

Tomorrow Mr. Henderson will confer with Foreign Minister Baron Constantin Von Neurath for the purpose of clearing the way for renewed German participation.

After Mr. De Valera had addressed the League assembly, five constituent committees were organized and officers were elected. The customary disarmament committee was eliminated as that problem is being worked out at the disarmament conference.

Nicholas Politis, Greece's representative and a supporter of French policy, was chosen assembly president, with 44 out of 50 votes. The following were selected vice presidents: Baron Pompono Aloisi, of Italy; Foreign Minister Sir John Simon, of Great Britain; Baron Von Neurath, Haruchi Nagasaki, of Japan, and Thomas Francis Higgins, of Nicaragua.

M. Herriot arrived in Geneva tonight shortly before Sir John Simon left for England, where his presence was expected.

President Asks Delay In Rail Wage Dispute

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Secretary Doak today issued a statement disclosing that President Hoover had requested representatives of a railway labor organization and the presidents of lending railroads to defer all discussion of the railway wage reduction until the end of the present year.

Doak's statement was issued after a conference with the president. Recently, the leaders of more than 20 railway labor organizations and brotherhoods requested President Hoover to oppose suggestions for further reductions in railway wages.

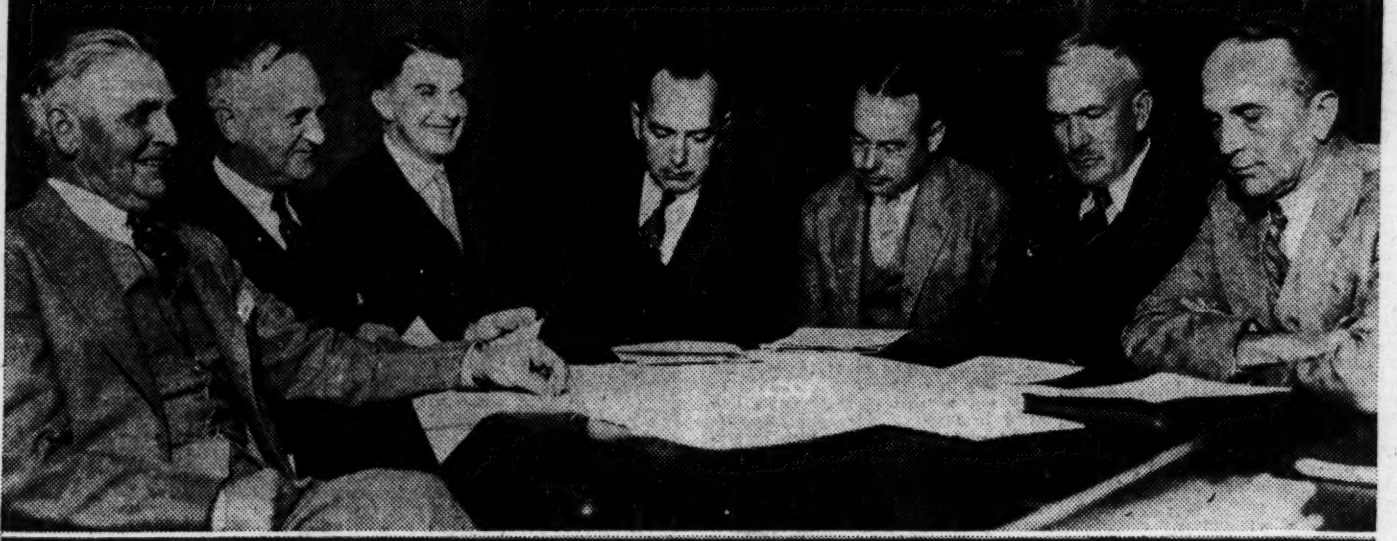

Doak said today the president had expressed to the railway labor leaders at that time the view that the question of reductions be laid aside until at least January 1.

Curtis' Statement on Tariffs Hit by World Trade League

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—That our exports of crude foodstuffs were far higher under the Underwood tariff than they have ever been since and are today only 21 per cent as high as they were during the last year of that tariff is one of the points made in a non-partisan analysis of Vice President Curtis' recent Pennsylvania speech, in which he praised the benefits to farmers of recent tariff legislation, the World Trade League, New York, says in a statement just made.

"Mr. Curtis' belief that the farmer was worse off under the Underwood schedule on farm products is hardly borne out by the official government statistics," the statement points out. "For in the year following the tariff boosts of 1922 our exports of agricultural exports fell off 40 per cent. The

Members of Atlanta Civic Clubs To Serve as Vanguard Of Army Preparing To Take Field in Campaign for Chest

These are co-chairmen of the Advance Gifts committee of the annual Community Chest appeal, representing Atlanta civic clubs. They will perfect their organizations and start at once on a preliminary canvass for funds to provide for the work of the chest and its agencies through another year. Those shown in the picture above are, left to right: R. K. Rambo, president of the Civitan Club; W. E. Arnaud, president Exchange Club; Frank Neely, president Community Chest; Arthur S. Bird, chairman of the Community Chest campaign; Jackson P. Dick, representing the Kiwanis Club; J. K. Jordan, president of the Lions' Club, and Thomas Moore, president of the Rotary Club.

Commission to serve as the vanguard in the annual appeal of the Community Chest for public support was accepted Monday afternoon by representatives of Atlanta civic clubs. They assembled to form an "advance gifts" committee, undertaking the solicitation of gifts from individuals as a preliminary to the general public canvass which begins October 24.

Members of the committee are Thomas Moore, president of the Rotary Club; R. K. Rambo, president of the Civitan Club; J. K. Jordan, president of the Lions' Club; W. E. Arnaud, president of the Exchange Club, and Jackson P. Dick, representative of the Kiwanis Club.

Accepting the task of organizing groups from business leaders to start at once the appeal for funds, the committee members expressed their conviction that the campaign this year involves a more urgent appeal, greater necessity for relief and for generous giving, and larger obligations of leadership and example on part of the more fortunate and well-to-do of the community, than ever before.

"Never has there been a challenge to representative Atlantans so insistent as that which confronts them in this campaign," said the committee's statement. "In this time of widespread distress, with misfortune and need the bitter lot of many of our people, the obligation of those in comfortable circumstances is increased.

ATLANTA TO HEAR GOV. ROOSEVELT

Nominee Declares He Will Stop in City During October Tour.

BY W. B. RAGSDALE.

WILLIAMS, Ariz., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt announced that he planned to visit Atlanta and Warm Springs, Ga., during his October tour which will begin at Albany about October 12.

The talk was made during a rodeo at the ranch of John C. Greenway at her Quarter Circle Double X ranch a few miles from Williams. Many of those who crowded around him wore the picturesque costumes of the cowlands.

During his day and night at the ranch, Mr. Roosevelt had opportunity to confer with many of the outstanding Arizona democrats.

Governor George W. P. Hunt and the man who defeated him in the recent primary, Dr. B. B. Moore, of Tempe, were there, along with Senator Hayden and Representative Douglas, of Arizona.

Beside the governor as he sat on the top of a seat in the open car was Senator Walsh, of Montana, who rejoined the party after several days spent in assembling data for Mr. Roosevelt.

CONFERENCE ON MILK CONTROVERSY IMPERATIVE.

The destruction of milk by farm picketers and the distributors' appeals to the federal court for injunctions have created a situation that is more than unfortunate. It is a dangerous situation which, with impulsiveness and unreason displacing calmness and logic, may result in deplorable eventualities.

The milk producers have good grounds for their contentions that they are not receiving enough for their product. Certainly the price paid for milk should be brought into the range of prices for other commodities. That the distributors will recognize these facts, when they are presented amicably and fairly seems also certain.

There is no insurmountable reason, then, why both sides of this controversy should not meet in a frank conference. Indeed, there should be a conference held at once, in order that a solution fair to all concerned can be sifted out of the differing viewpoints of producers and purchaser. The importance of such a conference is obvious, for there is no doubt that it will dispose of the present misunderstandings and obviate a situation which is assuming serious and dangerous proportions. The Constitution believes that a meeting between the producers and purchasers of milk should be held at once, and an agreement reached which will prevent a repetition of similar conditions in the future. And undoubtedly this meeting will result in giving the milk producers more money for their product.

The importance of such a conference cannot be overestimated, and The Constitution urges that immediate steps be taken to this end by representatives of all parties to this unfortunate controversy.

AUDITORS WORK ON INSULL BOOKS

Samuel Insull Jr. on Georgian Is Being Way To Join Father in Paris.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Federal auditors went to work today on the badly tangled accounts of the $2,000,000 Samuel Insull utilities enterprises, which recently went into receivership as the biggest industrial failure in America's history.

United States District Attorney Dwight F. Green said his accountants were interested particularly in the twin investment trusts, Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities, Inc., in which the public invested and lost about $300,000,000. Receivers' reports revealed that many of the investments of the concerns really consisted of trades in each other's stocks.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley ordered P. J. McEnroe, vice president of Insull Utility Investments, and John F. O'Keefe, secretary-treasurer, to appear before him for examination Thursday. Creditors' attorneys will question them concerning affairs of the unit. The judge indicated he would issue subpoenas for other officials as the hearing progressed.

The accountants later will delve into the affairs of the Middle West Utilities Company, kingdom of the Insull empire. It had 54 subsidiaries.

When the auditors have finished with the red-inked folios, Green said, it will be time enough for the postal start proceedings designed to bring the Insull brothers, Samuel and Martin, back to the United States. Samuel is in Paris; Martin is in Ontario.

Stanley Attorney John A. Swanson, pushing a separate investigation into the maze of multi-million dollar losses, announced he would begin upon Wednesday.

Roosevelt Flattered By Income Report

WILLIAMS, Ariz., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt said today he was "highly flattered" by a report in the magazine, Fortune, that his income was estimated at $42,500 a year. His son, James, observed "I wish it were true."

The democratic presidential nominee as governor of New York, drew a salary of $25,000 a year. Before he was elected governor of Georgia, he received a salary of $25,000 a year as vice president of an insurance company.

He resigned, however, when he was elected governor.

FAVETTE OFFICERS BRING SLAYER, SON TO FULTON TOWER

Andrew and Alvin Mc- Cullough Jailed Here for Safe-Keeping; Funeral of Baker Set for Today.

While officers Monday night gathered information concerning the fatal shooting Sunday afternoon of William B. Baker, former president of the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company, Andrew McCullough, alleged slayer, and his son, Alvin, were held in Fulton county jail for safe-keeping. The elder McCullough, a 63-year-old ex-croquet, was arrested at the home of his son early Monday morning and the two were rushed to the Atlanta jail. Feeling was said to run high in Fayette county over the slaying of Mr. Baker, which will be held at Spring Hill chapel at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Fallbearers will be Willshire Riker, F. W. Beazley, Thomas B. Paine, A. Wickersham, O. W. Deyrele, W. E. Mitchell, Richard Courts Jr., and T. K. Glenn. Honorary pallbearers will be W. E. Chapin, S. C. Dobbs, J. Carroll Payne, J. J. Spalding, W. C. Wardlaw, J. C. Gentry, Gordon Burnett and S. S. Dudley.

Associated with the slaying of Mr. Baker and his son, Dr. W. Pope Baker, prominent Atlanta physician, had gone to a tenant house on the former's 1,000-acre farm in Fayette county, in answer to a plea for help from a negro family residing in the house. There they found the two McCulloughs, and when they alighted from the automobile in which they were riding, Mr. Baker was shot in the abdomen and head. Dr. Baker received a flesh wound.

Died on Way to Hospital.

Dr. Baker called an ambulance, but his father was dead when he reached Atlanta. Meanwhile a posse was organized to search the swamps for the McCulloughs, who had run into the woods after the shooting. Alvin was captured early Sunday night but an attempt to search the swamps failed to reveal the elder man. He was captured at the residence of his son early Monday morning and offered no resistance when officers approached, although he had fired upon the posse in search of his son, according to members.

Fayette county officers, fearing for the safety of their prisoners because of inflamed feeling by citizens, rushed them to the Fulton jail for safekeeping.

Remington Rand, Inc., Recalls 3,000 Workers

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(UP)—An increase of 50 per cent in factory pay rolls was announced today by James H. Rand Jr., chairman of Remington Rand, Inc., makers of office equipment manufacturers.

Simultaneously the eight major plants of the company have been placed on the four-day week. More than 5,000 employees have been called back to work, and last week's pay roll was 25 per cent larger than that of the previous week.

The move has been undertaken despite the fact that production exceeds sales, since Rand, who hopes to see national adoption of his plan as a stimulus to improved business, "believes that inventory is a sound investment at the present time."

The manufacturer today also issued an appeal to other manufacturers to "boost their employment and pay rolls for at least 60 days" as a means of restoring public buying power immediately.

Grandson of W. H. Seward Quits G. O. P. for Roosevelt

Charles M. Seward, Atlanta manufacturer's agent, a grandson of William H. Seward, secretary of state in President Lincoln's cabinet and himself a lifelong republican, Monday announced that he is supporting Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democratic nominee for president.

Mr. Seward's announcement came simultaneously with publication of a letter from him to Governor Roosevelt, which was made public by headquarters of the democratic national committee in New York.

The noted statesman's grandson explained that he was not deserting the republican party for all time but merely was deserting the present republican leadership.

The letter written to Governor Roosevelt follows in part:

ADEQUATE SUPPLY ASSURED FOR CITY, SAY DISTRIBUTORS

Order Signed by Howard Restrains Veterinarian Sutton From Enforcing Law Requiring Dating and Labeling of Milk.

PLAN TO BUY MILK IN OTHER STATES

Blockade Rigidly Enforced in Rockdale County. Much Milk Poured Out by Bands of Farmers.

While Georgia farmers and dairymen continued their blockades of highways halting the delivery of Georgia-produced milk into Atlanta, pasteurizers and distributors here Monday went into court for a second time and emerged with a temporary injunction, which they claimed Monday night would insure an adequate milk supply for the city and crush the hopes of the "strikers."

The court action, taken Monday afternoon, was directed against Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian, who earlier in the day had informed distributors that if they sold milk more than 24 hours old before pasteurization, they must label it as such and inform the consumers that it was pasteurized so many hours after production.

The temporary injunction, issued by Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court, prohibits Dr. Sutton from enforcing this regulation and, according to a statement issued on behalf of the distributors, opens the way for the sale of Tennessee, Virginia and Alabama milk here, which the distributors claim is just as wholesome as that produced in Georgia, even though it is 24 hours or more older.

Judge Howard acted on the petition filed by Farmers' Dairies, Inc., through its attorneys, Marion Smith, Harold Hirsch and A. S. Clay III, the attorneys announcing that they acted for all other local pasteurizers and distributors.

Satisfactory Service Promised.

"Atlanta will receive an adequate supply of Grade A raw milk," a statement of the distributors said Monday night. "While we regret to have to use milk not produced in Georgia, the holiday declared by Georgia producers makes it necessary and the serving of the public is our first aim. The milk we obtain from nearby states will be kept at the proper temperature at all times and will be just as satisfactory as that obtained from Georgia producers."

While the distributors were arguing in court to obviate the necessity of using Georgia-produced milk, farmers and dairymen still were reported blocking the highways in Rockdale and Monroe counties and in four or five instances dumping over the roads milk intended for the pasteurizing plants in Atlanta.

Nearly all the dumpings occurred Monday morning but the highways were patrolled all day by "strikers" who were armed with clubs and whips.

SECOND INJUNCTION OBTAINED IN 'STRIKE'

Milk Dumped From Trucks as Producers Defy Court Order.

went about their work quietly and with assurance that no bodily harm would come to non-members of the Georgia Milk Producers' Confederation which declared the holiday.

The blockade was being rigidly enforced in Rockdale county where long before daylight Monday a band of from 40 to 50 farmers congregated on the highway about two miles this side of Conyers and halted every motor vehicle which was headed toward Atlanta, dumping a quantity of milk and telling the non-members of the federation that they would not be permitted to bring their product to the city.

Order Precipitates Petition. The temporary injunction was obtained after Dr. Sutton's order had reached B. B. George, vice president of the Pedigree company, and a reported conference between officials of the distributors and H. H. Hardin, of Forsyth, vice president of the confederation, failed to materialize.

The petition of Smith, Hirsch and Clay declared that the order of Dr. Sutton was unconstitutional and that the veterinarian and his assistant were usurping authority vested only in the state legislature.

The petition also alleged that Dr. Sutton had entered into a "conspiracy" with the milk producers and was in constant conference with the leaders of the confederation. It went on to recite that the distributors did not desire to use milk produced outside the state of Georgia but that it was necessary at present if Atlanta and other cities served by the pasteurizers were to be given an adequate supply.

Hearing Set for Saturday. Judge Howard signed the restraining order and set the hearing for a temporary injunction for Saturday, with the privilege of the parties concerned getting together and having a hearing at any hour in the meantime.

Both sides said Monday night that they did not believe it necessary to wait until Saturday and the prospects were that the hearing would be held sometime Wednesday or Thursday at the latest.

The distributors, in their petition, asserted that in attempting to enforce the order to label out-of-state milk, Dr. Sutton was violating an injunction obtained by them against the state department of health in January, 1931, when Dr. Peter H. Bahnsen, then an official of the department, was enjoined from carrying out a similar order, which was an order of an individual. Immediately after the injunction was obtained, however, the state department of health passed the ruling requiring the label Dr. Sutton insisted on and made it an order of the department itself. The order never has been enforced, it was said, until Dr. Sutton made known his intention in a letter to the distributors Monday.

It was then that they retaliated with the contention that neither the order of an individual or the department of health nor of the department itself is constitutional, asserting that the authorization for such an order is vested only in the state legislature.

In addition to Dr. Sutton the temporary injunction is directed against J. L. Bailey, Charles Smith and S. W. Fambrough, inspectors of the state veterinarian's office, whom Dr. Sutton had posted at the doors of the Pedigree plant to see that his orders were carried out.

The scheduled conference between leaders of both the distributors and the producers was not held Monday morning that the conference had been called and that the opposing groups would "get together" during the day. Neither side would assume responsibility for the calling of the conference, but both admitted that it had been scheduled.

Mr. Hardin remained at the headquarters of the confederation in the Piedmont hotel all day, saying that he was willing to confer with the heads of the distributing companies at any time or place desired.

Claim Engagement Broken. Hardin said in a statement Monday night that the distributors, after having agreed Sunday night to meet the producers in conference Monday to work out a plan of settlement, had failed to appear. He said directors of the confederation remained in session throughout the day awaiting B. B. George, of Pedigree Dairies, whom they expected to represent the distributors at the conference.

When George did not meet them, Hardin said, emissaries were sent to him, and throughout the day various plans of arbitration were suggested by the producers, only to be turned down by George for the distributors.

George himself offered one arbitration plan and then refused to go through with it, Hardin said. Under that plan, the confederation official said, the distributors were to name three members of an arbitration board, the producers were to name two, and a sixth member would be selected by the distributors from the ranks of independent producers not connected with the confederation.

George was asked whom the distributors wanted for the sixth arbitration board post, Hardin said, and he named Floyd Newton, of Morgan county. After some discussion confederation directors agreed Newton would be acceptable, Hardin went on, and they telephoned him to come here from Madison, which he did, driving 75 miles through a rain.

The confederation vice president said George was notified of what had been done and the distributor then said Newton was not acceptable to some of the other distributors because he had not recently shipped milk to Atlanta.

Then the producers suggested that the matter be left to Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and governor-elect as sole arbitrator, Hardin related. The distributors refused to accept him.

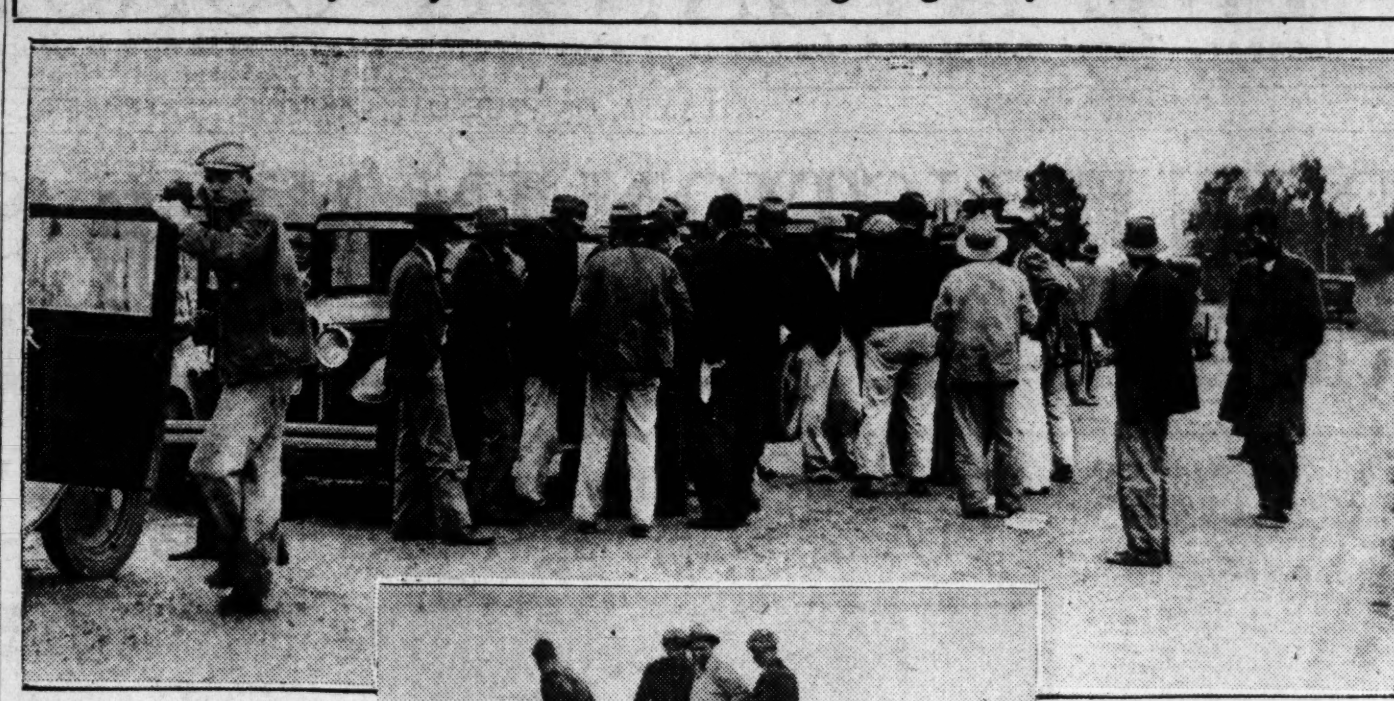

The next suggestion of the producers, Hardin said, was for an arbitration board of six, half to be named by each side. That also was refused.

Then the producers offered to submit the matter to a board of six, two named by each side, and the four arbitrators to name two others.

When George refused that plan, Hardin said, the producers suggested Mayor James L. Key as sole arbitrator. The mayor also was unacceptable to the distributors, Hardin said.

This was the situation at the end of the fifth day of the milk holiday, caused by a disagreement between the

Milk Destroyed by Picketers Patrolling Highways Into Atlanta

Milk strikers two miles west of Conyers Monday were halting trucks Atlanta-bound and searching them for milk destined to the pasteurizing plants here. pasteurizers and the producers over the prices to be paid for raw milk.

The injunction obtained from Judge Howard was the second of the holiday obtained by the distributors. On Saturday, attorneys for the pasteurizing companies appeared before Judge Bascom Deaver in the federal district court at Macon and obtained an injunction restraining the confederation members from dumping the milk of independent producers, concerning which Rockdale and Monroe farmers said they had received no official word Monday.

After the dumping Monday morning it was expected that Judge Deaver might issue contempt warrants against some of the "strikers" but none were forthcoming during the day.

Immediately after he had been served with the injunction, Sutton held a conference with Attorney-General Lawrence S. Camp and announced that a hearing would be held "very early," probably today.

Sutton Explains Action. "This department," Sutton explained, "is not attempting to prohibit the sale of milk more than 24 hours old. We are simply requiring distributors to place a special label on milk held more than 24 hours before pasteurization showing when and where such milk was produced and the place of pasteurization."

"This order was promulgated January 23, 1931, under an authority of the legislature of 1929 and provides that fluid milk, to be fresh and wholesome as fresh milk, must not be more than 24 hours old prior to pasteurization and shall not be considered fresh milk longer than 24 hours following pasteurization."

Sutton said, as state veterinarian, he was simply "umpiring" the fight between the producers and distributors and said that he had advised Pedigree Dairies, Inc., of the 1931 order so that milk which, due to time required for transit to Atlanta, is 24 hours old when it gets here must either be pasteurized promptly or specially labeled to show the age of it at the time of pasteurization.

More than two score Rockdale county farmers patrolled roads leading into Atlanta Monday, dumping several truck loads of milk and searching other cans in an effort to halt milk shipments by small dairymen to large distributors in Atlanta.

Blocking one-half of Route 12, leading from Conyers to Atlanta, 42 or more farmers and milk producers flagged down oncoming cars, made a cursory inspection of touring cars, and trucks, and forced several milk trucks to halt while they poured milk destined for Atlanta distributors over the highway.

Milk trickled off the roadside in small white puddles.

A large railroad crossing placed across the road in front of oncoming cars, aided the men in flagging down automobiles.

One farmer, who acted as spokesman for the Conyers group, said the men had been at their posts since before daylight. None had eaten until noon, when one of their number was dispatched to Conyers for sandwiches and cake.

Some of the men were sullen, others joked with passersby.

The spokesman stressed the fact that no violence was intended.

"We've had no trouble so far," he said. "The drivers of the milk trucks know we mean business, and we've had no trouble."

"Most of them sit quietly in their seats while we pour out their milk."

The spokesman, who declined to permit the use of his name, said they had not been informed that the federal court at Macon had issued a temporary injunction against the dumping of milk.

Another farmer, speaking of his experience in selling milk to Atlanta distributors, said he had shipped 1,654 pounds of milk to one concern over a period of 12 days, and had received $19.10 for it. The distributor billed him $19.62 for freight and icing cost, he said, so that he ended the transaction 52 cents loser.

Sheriff J. P. Cook, of Rockdale county, said he had heard of no violence. He said he had not been advised of the federal action at Macon.

"I've been busy all morning on a burglary," the sheriff said. "I had not heard of any milk spilling."

Jeff Ivey, a milk truck owner and driver, reported when he reached Forsyth Monday morning that a dozen men blocked the road in front of his truck with an automobile in the vicinity of the local church and poured out 90 to 100 gallons of milk. Ivey had not finished his route and did not have a full load of milk. There were no reports of violence. A few of the local dairies in Forsyth are giving to the needy milk that is not being shipped to Atlanta during the milk holiday.

N. Y. DAIRY FARMERS PREPARING FOR HOLIDAY. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—More than 2,000 dairy farmers were preparing tonight for a mass meeting in the milk price situation after one of their leaders had issued a warning to "be ready" in case a strike is called by the dairymen who produce the New York city milk supply.

A warning came from Albert Woodhead, an organizer of the Dirt Farmers Boosters' Club representing most of the milk producers in Monroe and Livingston counties.

"If those who supply New York city decided on a holiday, and there is more than a chance they will," said Woodhead, "the milk companies will look to Monroe and Livingston and neighboring counties for a source of supply and it behooves us to be ready."

Woodhead said members of his organization "reserve the right not to send products to market unless the price gives us a chance to make at least a living."

There were no developments during the day from the Adams Center dairy region, where farmers who had threatened a milk strike were told Sunday that the United Milk Producers Company would attempt to stop price cutting by Brooklyn dealers.

PROBE OF MILK COSTS ORDERED IN MINNESOTA. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor Floyd B. Olson today ordered an investigation of milk distributing costs in the Twin-Cities area.

The action followed a conference with R. A. Trowatt, state commissioner of agriculture, who laid before the governor requests for investigation presented by the Twin Cities Milk Producers Association and the Farmers' Holiday Association of Washington county.

COURT ORDER IS OBTAINED IN NEBRASKA MILK WAR. OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The David Cole Creamery Company, one of two dairies which refused to accede to price demands of the Nebraska-Iowa Co-operative Milk Association, obtained a court order today restraining members of the association and others from interfering with the company's business.

Previously 400 farmers paraded in the interest of co-operative marketing and canvassed the city in an attempt to urge customers to patronize a "friendly" dairy.

The widespread middlewestern drive for increased milk prices is related to the home holiday movement but not a part of the campaign to withhold grain and live stock from markets.

OHIO RALLIES CONTINUE DESPITE COURT ORDER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Despite a temporary court restraining order against waging its campaign against one of the large Toledo dairy companies, representatives of the Northwestern Co-operative Sales Company with a membership of about 5,000 farm milk producers in Ohio and Michigan, continued its program of meeting in rural communities tonight.

E. D. Waid, manager of the co-operative, spoke at Delta tonight and tomorrow is scheduled to speak in Lima City. As a precaution against possible violation of the injunction, stenographic reports of the meeting are being taken.

Meanwhile, both producers and distributors closely checked hotel records of all kinds in an effort to learn more about the wiring of co-operative headquarters by unidentified persons for the purpose of listening in on secret discussions.

LT. JOHN B. CRANDALL DIES IN DENVER, COLO.

Former Fort McPherson Officer Was Son-in-Law of Atlanta Man.

Lieutenant John B. Crandall, U. S. A., formerly stationed at Fort McPherson and a son-in-law of Charles B. Maddox, of the N. C. & St. L. railroad, died Sunday at a government hospital in Denver, Colo. The body will be brought to Atlanta Saturday night and Masonic rites will be held at the graveside Sunday in West View cemetery. The Palestine lodge, F. & A. M., of which he was a member, will have charge of the services.

Lieutenant Crandall, a native of Jacksonville, Fla., resided in Atlanta for many years, being stationed at the fort and at Camp Jessup in the transport department during the war. He was 43 years of age and had resided in Denver for the last eight years. He had been in failing health for some time.

After the World War, Lieutenant Crandall was transferred to Portland, Ore., and subsequently to Honolulu. Later he was sent to Denver. He was well known in Atlanta, and in 1920, on June 27, he was married to the former Miss Ethel Maddox, of Atlanta, who survives him.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three children, John Crandall Jr. and Sheryl and Shirley May Crandall, of Denver; his mother, Mrs. Helen Crandall, of Denver; and a brother, Lawrence Crandall, of Cleveland, Ohio. Awtrey & Lowndes will be in charge of the funeral services.

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, the boys will build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Use Your Common Sense, Take Insurance Against Accidents

"Just common sense"—have you got it? So often you hear people talking of the exercise of "common sense." The man or woman who uses his or her head practically has "common sense." Here's a test of whether you have it or not.

You know of the menace and growing scope of the accident wave which is sweeping the nation. You know that you are not exempt. Every day, every year, men and women are struck down by accident without warning.

In this high-speed existence of ours no one is accident-proof. It is a certainty that hundreds will be seriously injured today and hundreds more tomorrow. You may be a careful driver, but you never know what the other fellow is going to do.

There is one thing that you can do and show "common sense" by doing, and that is to protect yourself by travel and pedestrian accident insurance as offered to you by The Atlanta Constitution.

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by The North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policyholders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for the same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price.

Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20 cents registration fee with the application and 20 cents for 5 consecutive weeks thereafter, in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

Democrat Appointed Colorado Senator

DENVER, Sept. 26.—(P)—Walter Walker, Grand Junction newspaper publisher and retiring chairman of the democratic state central committee, was appointed United States senator today by Governor William H. Adams.

Walker, 48, a democrat, and complete Senator Charles Waterman, a republican, were the only candidates in the election.

Colorado's election laws make no provision for the nomination of a short-term candidate in an instance of this kind.

Some legal authorities say the vacancy committees of the parties have power to select a candidate. Others declare the vacancy committees are empowered to fill only such vacancies as may occur on the tickets selected at the state assemblies. Some political leaders believe the state executive committees have the power to name candidates in such circumstances.

NAVAL OFFICER'S CAR KILLS PENSACOLA BOY

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 26.—(P)—Norman Hamme, 15-year-old newsboy, who was the sole support of his mother, Mrs. Annie Hamme, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Lieutenant H. C. Down, of the naval air station here.

Down, who rushed the boy to a hospital, where he died 30 minutes later, was arrested and held on $1,500 bond on a manslaughter charge. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

COMFORT COAL CO. OPENS ON RIDGE AVE.

Morris Solloway, operating the Comfort Coal Company, has opened a coal business at 1149 Ridge avenue, S. W.

ADMIRAL PRINGLE DIES IN SAN DIEGO

59-Year-Old Officer Was Recognized Authority on Naval Affairs.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 26.—(P)—Within a few months of the time he was to assume duties as chief of naval operations at Washington, D. C., death late last night ended the brilliant career of Vice Admiral Joel Roberts Poinsett Pringle, 59.

The officer was rushed to the naval hospital here last week by the U. S. S. West Virginia proceeding at full speed from Puget sound, where he was stricken with an abdominal ailment. His physician, Dr. L. B. Johnson, said he died of anemia.

A recognized authority on naval affairs, Admiral Pringle served as technical adviser at the 1928 conference on limitation of arms at London. He also was an authority on the problems of the nations bordering the Pacific.

Born in Georgetown, S. C., February 4, 1873, Admiral Pringle was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in 1892. He was appointed a rear admiral on December 6, 1922. He was president of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., in 1927, and at the time of his death was commanding the battle force, United States fleet.

When he died, his wife, his daughter, Mrs. J. D. H. Kane, and his son-in-law, Lieutenant Commander J. D. H. Kane, were at his bedside. The admiral's body will be sent to Annapolis, Md.

COL. SIR PERCY GIRAUD. LONDON, Sept. 26.—(P)—Colonel Sir Percy Giraud, director of munitions supplies for British forces in the World War in 1915 and formerly governor of northern Nigeria and of the East Africa protectorate, died today after a long illness. He was 65 years old.

SAMUEL A. MEGEATH. NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(P)—Samuel A. Megheath, one-time president and general manager of the Galena Signal Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, died at his summer home at Belport, L. I., yesterday. He was 62. He was married in 1896 to Adelaide Sibley Miller, of Franklin, Pa., who survives with their five children.

Mrs. Megheath, wife of the late Captain Henry, of Fort Benning, Ga.; Mrs. Harry Rogers, wife of Lieutenant Rogers, U. S. A., of Madison, Wis.; Mrs. L. J. Rogers, wife of Major Street, U. S. A., of Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; and Sam A. Jr., and Walden Megheath, both of New York. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church at Yonkers.

VALIDITY OF BONDS OF MIAMI ATTACKED

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 26.—(P)—City Attorney John W. Watson Jr. said today that when he argues a suit brought against the city by a bondholders' committee, he will maintain that all municipal bond issues since 1897, the date of adoption of the present constitution, should be declared void and unconstitutional.

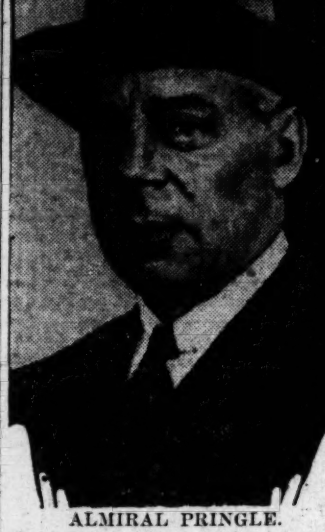

Watson said he would base his plea on the theory that municipalities, as branches of the state government, cannot exceed the power of the state government. The state is forbidden by constitution to issue bonds except to repel invasion or suppress insurrection.

Namesake of Volstead Fined for Drunkenness

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 26.—(UP)—A man named Volstead came to court today—charged with common drunkenness.

The prisoner, Christ Volstead, 45, who said he was no relation to the sponsor of the dry act, was fined $1 and costs.

Admiral Dies

ADMIRAL PRINGLE. ROOSEVELT VICTORY FORESEEN BY DANIELS

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 26.—(P)—Joseph Daniels, who was Franklin D. Roosevelt's "boss" when the democratic presidential candidate was assistant secretary of the navy in the Wilson cabinet, said here today "the west has been won" for the New York governor.

The former secretary of the navy was back at his desk after attending the American Legion convention at Portland, Ore., and campaigning in the west for Roosevelt.

Daniels, who made speeches in California and Utah, declared Roosevelt "will carry every state west of the Mississippi river."

"Conditions are better in the west right now," Roosevelt than they were for Wilson," said Daniels, who depicted the Wilson publicity campaign in 1912.

Roosevelt's speeches in the west, Daniels continued, have made votes. Daniels said he will be surprised if California, President Hoover's home state, does not give its electoral vote to Roosevelt and even in Iowa, Hoover's native state, he said, "the Roosevelt tide is running very strong."

R. F. C. OFFICIALS, I. C. C. DISCUSS RAIL LOANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(P)—Policies to be followed in making loans to railroads were discussed today at a conference between officials of the Reconstruction Corporation and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The meeting, apparently a continuation of discussions between the two agencies a couple of months ago, broke up without any announcement by its participants.

All members of the finance corporation board and Commissioner Meyer, Mahaffie, Eastman and Brainerd took part in the conference and the finance division of the commission, also were present.

Two months ago plans were worked out in conjunction with railroad officials whereby so-called "work" loans might be applied for. The only loan coming directly under this heading thus far was a $2,000,000 allowance made to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company last week to build box cars.

STURDIVANT CHANGES SLEUTH ASSIGNMENTS

Changes in personal and assignments of the detective bureau were announced Monday by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant, after he had conferred with Chief of Detective A. L. Poole.

The changes, Sturdivant said, were made to strengthen the efficiency of the detective department.

C. D. Holton was sent back to the uniformed division and the homicide squad was augmented by the addition of a robbery squad which will be composed of E. W. Ginn, S. B. McGarity, J. R. Simmons and George C. Caldwell.

The following were placed on general assignment: George Barrett, G. H. Whitley, Y. T. Allen, R. L. Hollingsworth, O. D. Evans, Patrick Campbell, J. J. Cowan, J. D. Cody, J. H. Crankshaw, J. J. Cowan and R. C. McGill.

ANESTHETICIAN RESIGNS IN OVERDOSE DEATHS

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 26.—(P)—Officials at the Longview State hospital today announced Dr. J. M. Irving had resigned from the staff, apparently as an aftermath of the deaths 10 days ago of three patients who died from overdoses of an anesthetic.

The patients died after being given injections containing two grams of a narcotic, whereas the formula called for only two grains.

Injuries Fatal.

QUINCY, Ill., Sept. 26.—(P)—Fourteen-year-old Odessa Hagan, daughter of W. B. Hagan, died here of injuries received when she was run over by an automobile she cranked while it was in gear.

If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, get from any druggist a 50c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back.—(adv.)

REPUBLICANS' TARIFF IS LAUGHED BY CURTIS

Vice President Says Measure Has Brought Many Blessings.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 26.—(P)—Vice President Curtis, speaking here tonight at a republican rally, said the administration's tariff and immigration policies "brought greater unemployment and distress in the present economic emergency."

The vice president's address, as distributed by the republican national committee, assailed President Hoover's strict enforcement of the immigration law had cut the number of entering aliens this year below the number of those leaving the country.

Referring to party policies, administrative acts and legislative enactments, "In these trying times of world-wide economic disturbances, republicans around largely for American wages being more than in other countries. Not only are our wages higher than in other lands, but American standards of living are far higher, hours of labor shorter and working conditions better than in any other nation."

"The democratic attacks on the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, the vice president said: 'Their only proposal for a change was for an international economic conference on tariff rates and other subjects in connection with trade.'"

Tonight's address by Mr. Curtis opened the republican drive in this state. Tomorrow he speaks at Charleston before turning west.

HOOPER TOUR PLANS OUTLINE AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(P)—Spoken at a republican campaign headquarters here outlined plans today under which they said President Hoover would begin his campaign and speak two speeches and to the New England states for another.

The first of the addresses is scheduled October 4 at Des Moines. His other midwest address, it was said, would be in either Minneapolis or Cleveland, Boston is under consideration as the place for the third address.

The 1,000-mile journey to Des Moines, the president will be absent from Washington only about 60 hours. There will be no stops en route, and platform appearances at railroad stations will be held to a minimum.

HOOPER GETS REPORTS FROM CHIEF OF AID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(P)—From republican representatives of three states, President Hoover today received forecasts that he would carry their presidential electoral votes in November.

Senator Smoot of Utah, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, and Representative Beedy, who scored the only republican congressional victory in the recent Maine elections, after separate conferences with the president said they had reported to him their states would be listed in his column in the coming election.

Smoot said he did not believe the Utah result would be "even close." He said he believed "the whole political picture is changing" in favor of the republican party.

Beedy said he told Mr. Hoover he thought "purely local causes explained the democratic victories in Maine." Mrs. Rogers said she had told the president that "Massachusetts is safe."

Secretary Hyde, who canceled an address in Ohio last week, hopes to be able to resume tomorrow his midwest tour in the interest of President Hoover's candidacy.

HURLED TO PAVEMENT BY TRUCK, NEGRO DIES

His foot caught in the double rear wheel of a large coal truck, Watson Reeves, 28-year-old negro, of the rear of 416 South Pryor street, was killed late Monday afternoon in front of 400 Pryor street, according to police reports. The negro was seeking to show the driver of the truck, King Freeman, negro, of 228 Grant street, S. E., where to put a load of coal, and attempted to get on the truck from the side. The wheel caught his foot and hurled him to the ground with such force that he died a few minutes later while en route to Grady hospital. Police investigated, but made no case.

TUSKEGEE RECEIVES GIFT OF SILK FLAG

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Sept. 26.—Tuskegee institute has received a beautiful silk flag, a gift from Colonel and Mrs. Leo Strassburger, of Montgomery, Ala.

The flag was given by Colonel and Mrs. Strassburger in memory of their son, the late Captain Julien M. Strassburger, of the Rainbow division, who was killed in action July 25, 1918, at La Croix Rouge farm at Chateau Thierry, France.

The flag will be presented to the regiment at a later date at which time Colonel Strassburger will be present for the ceremony.

POLICE FIND WOMAN ILL ON FLORIDA ROAD

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Sept. 26.—(P)—Police last night found a woman who said she was Miss Elizabeth Lane, 38, of Albuquerque, N. M., lying along a highway near here.

She was placed in a local hospital where her condition was said to be critical. Police said she had been unconscious most of the time since found.

Suit Settled.

SARASOTA, Fla., Sept. 26.—(P)—A $100,000 damage suit, brought against John Ringling by Mrs. Virginia M. Dixon, who was injured when her truck collided with the circus man's automobile on the Tamiami trail near her last March, was dismissed today. She said the case was settled by an insurance company for $9,000.

Administration Letters Council Board Sought On Proposed City Dam

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 26.—(P)—Letters of administration for the estate of Dorothy Millette, mystery woman in the life of Paul Bern, film executive, were granted by the superior court here today to Public Administrator Koch.

Miss Millette committed suicide by drowning in the Sacramento river, early this month a day or two after the husband of Jean Harlow, film actress, ended his life.

Koch's petition was uncontested. Attorney Chester Gannon, who represented Koch, said the public administrator will proceed to locate Miss Millette's relatives and establish, if possible, proof of her marriage to Bern before he wedded Miss Harlow. The Millette estate as it stood here today consisted of $38 and some articles of clothing she left on the river steamer Delta King. Gannon said if her marriage to Bern is proved a claim on half of the Bern estate will be filed in Los Angeles.

EMORY ENROLLMENT NEARING 1931 RECORD

With more than 200 new students already enrolled, students in the advanced classes and professional schools of Emory University will register today for the fall quarter. The hours of registration, as announced by the administration, are from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 4 in the afternoon. Regular class work in all schools will begin Wednesday.

While final enrollment figures will not be available until the end of this week, the registration is expected by university officials to be close to the record of more than 1,200 reached in the fall of 1931.

68-Degree Maximum Forecast for Today

Northeastern winds and cloudy skies brought the coldest weather to Atlanta Monday that the city has experienced since May 29, during a cold spring, but today higher temperatures will accompany a change in wind and showers, according to Arthur H. Scott, acting meteorologist.

Monday the mercury at 7 o'clock in the morning read 61 degrees and instead of getting higher as is the usual thing during the day, the clouds and northeastern winds caused the mercury to keep dropping until at the last forecast it had reached 57 degrees.

This morning the minimum should be about 62 degrees, said Mr. Scott and the maximum will get up to 66 or 68 degrees.

Monday's low was the lowest temperature since May 29 when the mercury registered 53 degrees.

Weak, Thin Blood Quickly Responds to New Yeast, Iron, Copper Treatment

Weak, thin blood, undernourishment and digestive troubles take a fearful toll in health, strength and suffering. They sap the stamina and nerve force, shrivel body tissue and bring on nervous and physical exhaustion. Victims of these pernicious conditions need a general building up of blood and nerves, and a strengthening of the digestive system.

Thor's Vitamin Compound, the new scientific treatment containing yeast, vitamins, iron and copper, often accomplishes results in days that formerly required weeks of tedious treatment by old-time methods. It cleanses the system of impurities, aids digestion, increases the appetite for wholesome, nourishing food, and promotes an increase in the vital, strengthening red corpuscles of the blood. The nervous system is strengthened naturally by improved circulation and increased metabolism.

If you are weak, thin and have no endurance, suffer from acid conditions, poor digestion, pimply skin and weak blood; if you are nervous, work out and undernourished, ask your druggist today for this new scientific yeast, iron and copper treatment—Thor's Vitamin Compound. It costs only fifty cents at all good druggists and hundreds of people are finding new health, strength and happiness through its use. A gratifying improvement is guaranteed the very first week or money cheerfully refunded.

Bobby knew that both were of a stormy, passionate and headstrong disposition, and that each must discipline himself if they were to arrive at a deep and lasting harmony. It could never be by force such as Jack had used when he had lifted her, struggling and sobbing, in his strong arms. She must demonstrate now her complete independence.

But what could have happened to Jack during that long evening since he had turned the lock upon her and strode away? Barbara quickened her step as she thought with sick foreboding of the danger he was in.

Hurrying toward the lodge, she saw with wonder the light in the trophy room and heard as from a great distance Jack calling her name. She realized he had come back and found her gone.

What if last they were face to face something kept them from the fierce embrace toward which each was motivated. It was as if their very longing threw up an invisible barrier which, for the moment, had become insurmountable.

"I'm going back to Chicago tomorrow and I don't want you to come with me, Jack."

"But, Bobby, won't you forgive me?"

"Of course I forgive you. It isn't because we quarreled, at all."

"But, for goodness sake, what is it then?"

"Don't you see that we can't be together now for a while? It has all been so violent and sudden and disarming beautiful. . . . We really need to be alone for a while to let the smoke of battle clear away a little. . . . and then there are other reasons, too."

"You mean that now that we haven't the gang to battle any more we will have only our own problems to fight and to overcome?"

"Something like that. . . . There would be nothing for us to do through the long days except to make love."

"That would be grand," Jack said. "I can't think of anything more delightful."

"But because you used force tonight in locking me in that room I must show complete independence before we can be on an equal footing again. . . . I . . . can't be explained in words, Jack. I just must go away, that is all."

"I think I understand," Jack said. "I won't ask to go with you tomorrow."

"I must be alone, dear."

Bobby slept that night as she had not slept in a week, and in the morning she packed for the return trip.

At 5:15 the taxicab turned west a few blocks, reached Kimbark and a moment later stopped at her own door. Wouldn't Aunt Pearl be surprised to see her? Bobby exclaimed to herself, burying her stairs. And Aunt Pearl did not disappoint her.

"I never thought I'd see you alive again," the nervous little person told her niece. "When I got that letter of yours yesterday, after waiting nine days for any word from you, I said to myself, 'I shouldn't be a bit surprised if I never saw her face again.' You don't know how much I worried, Barbara! You haven't any idea what I've been through. It was just like this summer I lost your Uncle Charlie on a railroad accident. . . . why . . ."

"Now do be quiet, Aunt Pearl," Bobby said reassuringly. "I'm here, safe and sound, as anyone can see. Try to calm yourself, dear."

"It was awful, simply awful," Aunt Pearl said, crying and smiling by turns. "You didn't write and you didn't write. And your letter finally arrived you told me dreadful things about wolves and secret panels and an accident in the canoe, you thoughtless girl."

"I'm just dreadfully sorry I worried you," Barbara said, "but do try to quiet yourself, Aunt Pearl. You'll have another bad spell."

Barbara herself had a taste of worry as the week rolled on and no letter came from Jack. True, in their excitement they had failed to exchange addresses, but Bobby knew Jack could find her if he tried.

For one thing, Martha had her address, and, for another, Jack must realize he could reach her through Vincent Holloway.

Still no letter came.

By the time Bobby was ready to return to work Monday morning she was morally certain that one of two things had happened. Either Jack had been shot or drowned or dreadfully hurt, or, even worse, he had ceased to love her and was taking this opportunity of breaking off.

Bobby had thought once or twice of sending a wire, but her stubborn pride intervened. If Jack didn't want to get in touch with her she wouldn't be put in the position of trying to chase him.

But while she suffered silently, trying to keep her worry from Aunt Pearl, her mind reviewed the days with Jack, and she knew that if she were never to see him again during her whole life she would not be able to forget him. . . .

She found the office bubbling with suppressed excitement when at 9 Monday morning she took her place at her desk and saw a new fellow looking over the lake. Everyone liked Bobby and everyone flocked around her to welcome her back, but Bobby realized that something more significant than her return was causing all the excitement.

"And, my dear, they say he is perfectly handsome," said Marie, the blond telephone girl in the outer office, to Betty, secretary to several of the younger men about the office.

"But where has he been all our lives?" Betty wanted to know.

"He's been in the east, my dear, acquiring that Harvard accent."

"Oh, I'm dying to meet him."

"Who are you talking about?" Bobby asked her curiosity at last aroused.

"About young Mr. Holloway," said Marie. "A regular John Barrymore, my dear. And he's going to work right in our office. Maybe you think the girls aren't hysterical."

"John Holloway is in person?" Bobby asked incredulously. "I thought that man was a myth!"

For the son of Vincent Holloway, although famous by report, had never been seen by any of the girls in the office. Often they heard rumors of his good looks, his scholastic ability

Lillian Mae Patterns.

ATTRACTIVE PAJAMA ENSEMBLE.

Pattern 2406.

We wouldn't be up to the minute if we didn't advocate at least one that will satisfy every feminine heart. This one is particularly attractive and comfy. Merely slip on the jacket and you can greet any early visitor with a casual smile. A gray cotton print, velvet or rayon with the bodice of contrast would be just the thing.

Pattern 2406 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 40. Size 18 requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch fabric and 1 1/4 yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The fall and winter edition of the Lillian Mae pattern catalog is ready! Charming, flattering models—32 pages of the newest and best house, street and formal frocks—cleverly designed styles for large figures and beautiful, practical models for juniors and kiddies. Schmeling Stops Walker in Eighth Round of Fierce Battle Paying clients at the Dixie series are reported to be "off," as the boys say, some 20,000 in comparison with last season's series.

The Chattanooga fans were excited and mad about the winning of the pennant. But they were not so insane about it that they were willing to dig up $2 for a grandstand seat and toss Uncle Sam 40 cents in tax money. And the sun gods who inhabit the bleachers were not so wild that they jammed the stands at $1, plus tax, per copy.

It is very, very easy to second guess a mistake but there is no doubt but that the prices were scaled too high at Chattanooga and in Texas. Baseball was built on a cheap price. It was the only really big entertainment where one could spend a couple of hours being entertained at a price of 50 or 75 cents.

Baseball never really had any competition until golf came along with the public courses where a fellow could spend the whole afternoon, if he wished, for the price of a round of golf at about 50 or 75 cents. Baseball fans were shocked at the prices and instead of a new attendance record at Chattanooga, the club has been playing to what was just a good Sunday crowd during the season.

Two dollar tickets at a minor league ball game is very, very shocking to the clients. And no matter how insanely happy they may be over the flag they will not flourish their two grogskins and rally around the ticket windows in any record numbers. At regular prices they would have laid them in the aisles. At $2 they are 20,000 short.

"THE BEST MIXER IN TOWN."

It was last Saturday morning when your old dusty correspondent dropped his figure about a stool in a Chattanooga restaurant to scoff a cup of coffee en route to the football game at Nashville.

And sitting on a shelf back of the counter were several little green bottles with a bright yellow label. And on the label one read,

"Joe Engel—The Best Mixer in Town."

"What is this Joe Engel drink, young lady?" I asked.

"Why, that, sir, is the new drink which has been put on the market since our team won the pennant. Hadn't you heard about that?"

"Does Mr. Joe Engel drink Joe Engel?" asked the inquiring reporter.

"Why, I am sure he does, sir," said she. "You see, it isn't every one who has a drink named for them."

"Can one drink it just as it is or does one have to mix it with something?"

"Well, sir, I'm sure I don't know. You can see here on the label it says it is the best mixer in town just as Mr. Engel is. I am sure it would be all right but then it is a mixer."

We hunted all around but there was nothing with which to mix the drink. And the young lady didn't think it would go well with coffee. So I never found out. But the drink is out.

And there must be something in Chattanooga with which to mix it. Because the sale is brisk.

PASSING THE LAUREL.

There is a growing indoor sport which begins to be more and more amusing. I refer to the rush by rival coaches each fall to place the verbal laurel wreaths about the nogginns of their rivals.

It was in the summer that Major Bob Neyland of Tennessee announced that as far as he was concerned Dan McGugin's Commodores were already the champions and that the only reason he was going ahead and play the Vanderbilt game was because it was on the schedule. And tickets were sold. His material was terrible and Vanderbilt's was simply grand.

And now I read where Mr. Harry Mehre places the laurel wreath about the dome of his old pal Chet Wynne at Auburn.

Over at Alabama, Frank Thomas is busy putting sprigs of laurel in the hair of his coaching pals at Tennessee and Vanderbilt. "We hope to win but it looks as if they have it on us."

Just a lot of pals. It's great sport for the early autumn—taking the mind off serious things and making one realize that man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. The gent who is thus nominated as a sure-fire winner in the early Alphonso-Gaston acts can only mutter in his beard and hope to get even.

Just for the sake of novelty I'd like to hear some coach say, of his chief rival:

"My material is terrible but you should see what poor old Jack has at Siwash. It is worse than mine."

LASSES WHITE.

Lasses White, at whom I used to gawk when a lad, was in the press box Saturday at Nashville when Mercer and Vanderbilt were doing a football debut for the edification of the multitude.

The old minstrel king looked great. He has moved to Nashville and is making his home there. What a character he was on the stage with his built up skull and his nasal voice that went so well in his specialty songs. They used to clap Lasses back out for verse after verse. And how he could roll those eyes and bring that thumb over across his tongue. Great stuff 20 years ago.

Lasses was telling Freddie Russell, of the Banner, a story about the colored baseball game and the big boy who slammed out a drive over third base.

"The ball went foul," said Lasses. "The umpire said foul and so did the coacher at first. But the big boy raced all around the sacks and ended with a great slide at home."

"How come you running them bases when you know the ball is foul?" asked the umpire. "Didn't you hear me yell?"

"Sho, I knowed the ball was foul," said the boy, "but I was just rehearsing them bases."

"RASSLIN' RATINGS.

The newly formed National Wrestling Association rates Jim Londos as champion, and names Ray Steele (Pete Sauer), as the leading contender.

It then rates the others in the following order: Jim McMillen, Henri De Glane, Hans Kemper, Dick Shikat, Ed Lewis, Rudy Dusek, Gino Garibaldi, George Zaharias, John Pesek, Jack Sherry, Pat O'Shocker, Paul Jones, Fred Grubmier, Everett Marshall, Joe Savoldi and Gus Sonnenberg.

It is a bit surprising to find Lewis rated sixth. The association evidently does not believe him the man to meet Londos for the title. And with Londos already victorious over Steele and McMillen the Greek champion seems sure to rule for some time to come.

LOOKOUTS SEEK TO END SERIES THIS AFTERNOON

McColl Is Slated To Face Goldstein in Fifth Game Today.

By Jimmy Jones.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 26. What was meant to be the fifth game of the thirteenth Dixie Series was played in the hotel lobbies here today with players of Chattanooga and Beaumont watching the murky atmosphere outside and discussing the respective slices of the series melon.

The baseball magnates, having seen the turnstiles turn a bit sluggishly to date, were afraid to take a chance on a second-day of inclement weather and called the game off. The teams will meet tomorrow at 2:30, all things favorable, with Alex McColl due to face Izzy Goldstein, the handsome Jewish boy, on the mound.

Bert Niehoff had planned to use Duster Mails, the robust southpaw today, but the unexpected day or rest influenced him to go back to McColl, who hasn't pitched a full game since last Wednesday in Beaumont.

McColl, by the way, has a very enviable record in sight if he wins out over the younger Goldstein, since he has already won two games in this series and has relieved in a third. Three Dixie series victories for one pitcher in five games played would be something the men of the press would refer to in years to come.

McColl pitched and won Chattanooga's first victory, 5-0. He relieved Pettitt to gain credit for the first game here Friday and in addition to that, the veteran Scot is generally accredited with having saved Sunday's game, although Hensel Hulvick got the credit for the win.

The Beaumont and Chattanooga players were obviously disappointed over their cut of the first four games and noted today. Their respective dividends on the $22,455.38 of player money which comes out of the first four games will amount to about $450 apiece for the victorious club and around $250 to the losers.

The Beaumont club today voted 23 player shares, in addition to those for Manager Del Baker and Business Manager Bobby Stone. Several members of the Beaumont team who belong to Detroit said they would have made a good deal more money by sharing in the game's third place cut in the American league, instead of staying down here to play in the Dixie.

CUT MANY WAYS.

The Chattanooga club will cut the money more ways than that, as there are at least four players who deserve shares although they did not get in the series. Bill Andrus and Dave Harris, outfielders; Wally Dashiell, second baseman; Freddy Jilek, catcher, and Joe Deberry, pitcher, were all helped greatly in winning the pennant, but who were not on the series eligible list. The Lookouts intend to take care of them, in addition to Andrus, outfielder from Memphis, and Ray Berres, Birmingham catcher, who were taken on as fill-in men and who probably will get at least half shares.

Seventeen players on the active squad. Secretary Emerson and Manager Niehoff are down for shares. Total attendance for the first four games between Chattanooga and Beaumont is 21,928 less than the number which saw Houston and Birmingham in four games last year.

Joe Engel, Chattanooga owner, said tonight that if the series terminates tomorrow, all hands will lose money. Joe went to considerable extra expense to build emergency bleachers and the crowds have failed to fill them.

BAD DAYS.

Engel quite generously gave up Saturday, pretty day, to the University of Chattanooga football team, which was playing Tennessee here, and took a chance on Monday. Incidentally, both Sunday and today were miserable for baseball and that was a very tough break for Engel. Bob Allen, veteran Knoxville owner and who helped conceive and organize the first Dixie Series back in 1920, says the prices are entirely too high for the times and favors a return to the original prices of $1.50, $1 and 75 cents which prevailed in the earlier years. The cheapest seats now are $1 and $1.50 and the best seats go for $2.50.

The Chattanooga club, however, will find some cheer in the fact that the Southern league gives $5,000 to the winning club in the series, in addition to the regular percentage of the residue.

Chances are that the Lookouts will not dilly-dally around in game four tomorrow despite the need of money, as they have a three-week tour through Mexico brewing. They play the Fort Worth club and the Aztec Indians on the jaunt.

The only really happy man in Chattanooga today was President Alvin Gardner, youthful head of the Texas league. He received a telegram that he had been struck on two pieces of his property at around 50 feet, which will only add to his wealth if the strike is a gusher.

In Title Go

The National league announced that William J. Klem and George M. Magrath were the umpiring choices of the senior circuit to team with William Dinnien and Ray Grattan, American league umpires, in handling the series.

The choice of Klem brings him into the World Series for the sixteenth time.

William Hennigan was chosen chief scorer for the series at a meeting of the Baseball Writers' Association.

There was much visiting about today as Kennesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, headed the invasion of baseball's high and low leagues. He received a telegram that he had been struck on two pieces of his property at around 50 feet, which will only add to his wealth if the strike is a gusher.

The speaker was accompanied by William Bray, his personal aid, and Charles S. Hand, in charge of his campaign.

Asked if he had any plans other than political, for his stay in New York, Garner replied:

"One thing I am going to try to do and that is attend one of the games of the World Series. All my life I have been an enthusiastic baseball fan, and when I have the opportunity to attend games down in Washington I do so."

Hand recalled that Garner, when a young man, played with the Coon Hollow team in the Red River section of Texas.

Asked what team he was going to root for, Garner countered with:

"Well, which team has the greatest number of democrats? When you tell me that I'll give you my answer. I suppose baseball players are like nearly every other person I have met recently, they are nearly all democrats. But I guess the best team will win."

YANKS WORKOUT AS BATTLE SITE IS DRESSED UP

Gotham Preparing for Big Event; Tickets Going Fast.

By Edward J. Neil,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—They called the bunting to the front of hundreds of sunlit boxes in the Yankee stadium today, broke out flags and turned up bands, for the World Series show is back on Broadway again after a lapse of three years.

Down on the playing field of the big American league ball park the championship Yankees frolicked through the first of two workouts designed to fit them for the invasion of the Chicago Cubs and the start of baseball's annual fall hysteria Wednesday.

There was Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, in rubber shoes, their jaws clamping busily on a fine brand of rough cut, whizzing baseballs into the vacant reaches of the right field bleachers, where, starting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, the frantic faithful will rise and scream for a similar feat each time one of them comes to bat.

As Big "Red" Ruffing, choice to face Guy Bush, of the Cubs, in the opening game, joined left-handed Ed Wells, Danny MacFayden and Charley Devins pitching for the Yankees, the big and little sluggers, all in a gay mood, rattled the fences with line drives.

TOWN EXCITED.

Around the town the excitement and allure of the big series cropped out in the usual places. At the bleachers entrance the solitary waiter of Cunningham, from Kansas City, already in line several days for the honor of being No. 1 into the far-flung stands Wednesday, was broken by the appearance of Ruth himself, to autograph a ball for the most persistent patron of the series.

While the Yankee business offices were crowded with purchasers, the rush for tickets fell far below that of the three-year reign of the Yankees from 1926 through 1928, when a single strip of tickets, covering three games, was harder to get than an audience with royalty.

This year there will be plenty of seats for the New York games for everyone. The World Series, for crowds here ranging from no higher than 50,000 for the opening game, down to 40,000 or so thereafter. Apparently the interest is as great as ever, but the $16.50 asked for a single reserved seat for the three home games stretches just a bit beyond the reach of many of the old fans.

Most of the money will go to the appearance of Ruth himself, to autograph a ball for the most persistent patron of the series.

Stadium capacity now is about 60,000. The World Series, single game record of 63,600 was set here in 1926.

A fresh injection of enthusiasm is due tomorrow with the arrival at 10 a. m. of the Cubs, racing eastward with the cheers and pleas of Chicago's faithful, bolstering them against the might of the Yankee siege guns, and the sharpshooting of Ruffing and Lefty Gomez. The latter as the logical choice to pitch the second game for the Yankees against either Charley Root, young Al Warlick.

The Yankees will turn their ball yard over to the Cubs after finishing their own morning workout tomorrow, giving the National league champions their first opportunity about noon, to test the sod and clout for the distant bleachers of one of baseball's finest stadiums.

The peering experts watch every motion, the three left-handed batters, Manager Charlie Grimm, Mark Koenig and young Johnny Moore, for the distance from the mound to the right field stands.

Landis visits.

There was much visiting about today as Kennesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, headed the invasion of baseball's high and low leagues.

Yanks Have Advantage Over Cubs in Strategy

Joe McCarthy, One-Time Chicago Manager, Should Know Players' Weaknesses.

By Edward J. Neil,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Off-hand, it would seem as though the New York Yankees had a decided strategic advantage over the Chicago Cubs, even discounting the forceful reasoning that lurks in the home run bats of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

Back in 1929 Joe McCarthy, now the field director of Colonel Jake Ruppert's $5,000,000 baseball property, managed these same Cubs in a World Series with the Philadelphia Athletics. If anyone should know their weaknesses, McCarthy is the man.

For that series they showed him just about all the weaknesses one club can hold. In one game the A's scored 10 runs in a single inning. The Cubs did everything wrong. They could win but one game in five.

Charley Grimm, now in the Cub pilot seat, was just a first baseman then, one of McCarthy's boys. He may have been an apt pupil. But he certainly had no chance that year to learn from observation how things were done correctly and World Series won.

"NO ADVANTAGE."

McCarthy insists, however, that having once managed the Cubs gives him no mental advantage.

While McCarthy is a long time, he said, "Sure enough many of the old gang are still there—Grimm, Gabby Hartnett, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, Woody English, Guy Bush, Charley Root, Pat Malone."

"But styles change in that time and so do players. They learn and they do things differently. They're like new bats to me now."

Grimm has the same sort of idea. His great hope is that the change has been for the better.

McCarthy and his strategic staff, consisting of Jimmy "Sunset" Burke, also a veteran of the 1929 debacle, and Art Fletcher, are long on buster mind, but they are not as staunch advocates of putting a team's problems directly, before the members.

When he took over the management of the Cubs in August he told them it was as much their team as his. They must win or lose for themselves. His World Series strategy will be much the same.

POWER TO BURN.

Similarly McCarthy, with power to burn, needs but to sit tight in the driver's seat and pick his pitchers if the Yankee machine is hitting on all cylinders.

But a streak of wildness such as affected three of his pitching aces, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing and Johnny Allen, might force McCarthy to throw the burden to Walter Brown, 230-pound right-hander, who has pitched three fine victories this month, or ageing Herb Pennock, never beaten in five World Series games.

A shortstop problem might develop between Lyn Lary and young Frank Corsetti, even a sign of outfield weakness, even among the regulars as Ruth, Gomez, and Chapman, will find Sammy Byrd, a streak hitter, liable to run wild at any time, waiting on the bench as a possible solution.

One certain strategic maneuver is a shift of Ruth to left field in Chicago.

As far as Grimm's outfield is concerned, he only likely change is Frank Demaree, a right-hand hitter, in place of Johnny Moore, a southpaw swinger, against Yankee left-hand pitching. Bill Jurgens and Mark Koenig may be shut out around at shortstop.

Otherwise it seems a case of opening the throttle for both teams and letting them burn.

ASK POLICE PROTECTION

Because of intense rivalry between followers of the two teams, the Dallas club asked police protection for its players in games of the Texas league play-off at Beaumont.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Sept. 26. Max Schmeling's hammer right hand was too much for Mickey Walker, the Jersey wildcat, in their heavyweight elimination fight here tonight.

The German's bludgeoning right fist battered down Walker, the greatest natural fighter of his weight and time, in a fusillade of punches that closed out the fight at the end of the eighth round.

Walker had taken such terrific punishment when the eighth came to a close that Jack Kearns, his manager, let the battle go to the black-haired, beetle-browed German after one of the most dramatic rounds in ring history.

EDGE KNOCKED AWAY.

The game and gallant Mickey stepped into this final round with a slight lead. He had taken an early beating and from this ragged start had come back with a series of counter-charges that had Schmeling badly worried.

He had recaptured a lost lead with a big crowd of more than 50,000 spectators was pulling for a Walker coup.

The German, looking for an easy victory after an early charge, suddenly found himself caged with a human wildcat.

There were rounds when Walker was all over the Teuton, smothering the invader with a savage attack that drove Schmeling around the ring.

CLASSIC OF RING.

And then the eighth round came along. The Jerseyman put on a classic in ring history for sheer gameness—for a throwback to the old time school of fighting.

Walker was firing after his savage, relentless attack that had carried him to the front. Outweighed by 14 pounds, outmached in years and stamina, staggered and badly switched against him.

The eighth had barely opened before Schmeling brought his bludgeoning right fist squarely to the point of Walker's chin. And it was as gameness, with all the fury of a true fighting soul, had shot his bolt and had come to the end of his road.

That right-hand bolt drove him back, and Schmeling, sensing the kill, was on him with a rush.

WALKER DROPPED.

Schmeling stepped away, but this time he was not to let the Jerseyman get a right hand flush to the jaw, and the Jerseyman dropped with the thud of a steel girder tossed from the top of a skyscraper. At the count of eight he was up again and once more the German tore in with rights and lefts that cut Walker's face into ribbons and closed both his eyes.

Another solid shot to the chin—and once more Walker came crashing to the floor. This looked to be final. It would have been for the fighter in the ring today. But the episode that followed electrified the crowd.

At the count of nine, the Jersey wildcat again came to his feet and met Schmeling's charge with a right and left to head and body.

EVERYONE BLIND.

At this stage, Walker was practically blind. Both eyes were closed. His mouth was split into a gory slit. There was blood on his forehead and on each side of his face. He looked like a sponge dipped in crimson tinting. But he was still fighting. He was still coming on, helpless, blind, tottering, and still swinging at the German who rushed him again.

Here was a throwback to the Bat-Elsons and the old-timers who fought as long as they could stand. In the eighth round Walker took one of the worst beatings the ring has ever seen. He was slashed and cut and driven all around the ring.

He was knocked down twice and he had nothing left to offer but one of the greatest fighting spirits the ring has ever known. And yet, blind, and bleeding, staggered and badly hurt, he finished the round to grope in the general direction of his corner where his manager, Jack Kearns, wisely signaled the referee that the war was over.

A GREAT FIGHT.

"There was nothing else to do," Kearns said in a moment later. "One of Mickey's eyes were closed. His lip was badly cut. It would have been murder to let him go on. He is too great a fighter to talk for more."

The fight offered more action in two rounds than the Schmeling-Sharkey meeting in 15. Schmeling looked as if he was an easy winner. Mickey could not keep away from that mauling right.

In the first round the German landed and knocked Walker down with a right that caught the point of the chin. Walker came up, half groggy, as the bell rang.

At the start of the second round, Schmeling continued his devastating offense. He had Walker groggy again with the round half over. He still looked to be an easy winner.

Then a GLANT CHARGE.

Took place. Schmeling had tapped every part of Walker except his fighting heart. From the middle of the second round Mickey came back with one of the most gallant charges in the annals of the ring game.

The Jerseyman suddenly turned and swarmed all over the German. He came on with a flurry of rights and lefts that drove Schmeling back. He lifted with such speed and fury that the Teuton was finished, he was wildered, and backing away, he found himself caged with a wild animal looking out for a fight.

They finished the fourth round on even terms and in the fifth Walker put everything he had in a swiftness, rushing attack that drove Schmeling back.

This was Walker's great round. He was all over Schmeling like a swarm of bees, stinging him with every punch. He won this round going away.

But that three-minute attack took its toll, and the toll was a heavy one. Mickey staggered again in the sixth, came back in the seventh, and then the eighth arrived to find the old Jersey Bulldog, after fifteen years of ring warfare and little training, just about spent. He had little left against the consistent, enduring attack of the German who proved his place beyond all doubt.

Schmeling had a tough battle on his hands, but after all he stopped the man who outpointed Jack Sharkey a year ago. He beat up and battered down one of the best fighters, pound for pound, the game knows today.

In awarding praise to Walker for his gameness, it is just as well to remember that Max Schmeling also proved his place at the top of modern

Mrs. McLean Is Sued For $33,002 by Attorney

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Welch McLean, who figured in the trial and conviction of Gaston B. Means for swindling her out of $104,000 to recover the Lindbergh baby, was sued today by her attorney, Albert W. Fox, for $33,002.21 of legal fees.

In a brief filed in District of Columbia supreme court, Fox said he had been paid only $2,500 plus a $10,000 promissory note which he said had not been honored. He set forth that since April he had represented Mrs. McLean in a suit for maintenance against her husband, Edward Beale McLean, former publisher of the Washington Post, had obtained for her injunctions against McLean suing her for divorce in Mexico and in Louisiana, had successfully prosecuted the action by which her husband was ousted from management of The Post, as well as having acted in the Means case.

ranch house. About him stood many men and women in cowboy garb, weather beaten cowpunchers in their high-heeled boots and denim shirts, a scattering of men in the colorful regalia of white chaps, broad-brimmed hats, brilliant-hued shirts and neckties.

While he spoke many of them sat on their horses. A fine white dust was stirred up by the galloping hooves of the horses, settling over the spectators as the cowboys went through their program.

Mr. Roosevelt told the crowd that he would rather look at the horses than make a speech. He spoke of the long journey which he has made encircling the west.

"Later I am going into the south, where there aren't any republicans at all," he told them.

The tentative plans for the southern trip call for his departure from Albany about October 12, with stops to be made at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Raleigh, four days at Warm Springs, Ga., and a stop at Atlanta. From that point he either will return home or go to Louisville and Indianapolis. A later trip into New England is being planned.

After the governor's talk, Mrs. Roosevelt, his son, James, Mrs. Greenway Dr. Moore, Senator Walsh, Representative Douglas and Senator Hayden were introduced by Mr. Roosevelt.

His party left Williams tonight at 10 o'clock. The train is due in Albuquerque tomorrow at 7:30 a. m. for a 10-minute stop.

The candidate's next formal speech will be delivered Thursday, September 29, at Sioux City, Iowa.

The democratic presidential nominee received a report by Cornelius Vanderbilt, who has traveled many thousands of miles already in the partially completed survey in which he is talking with newspaper editors and political leaders, said that of the states he has visited so far the one principally in doubt were Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wyoming, Kansas and Vermont.

He said, however, he was well on the way toward delivery into the Roosevelt column in November. He has not yet visited the south, California and some of the Great Lakes states.

GARNER REACHES NEW YORK WITH CHEERFUL EXPRESSION

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Speaker John Nance Garner, the democratic vice-presidential nominee from Texas, arrived today at 5:50 a. m., beginning over the prospect of seeing a World Series baseball game, and wearing what he called "my most optimistic expression."

From then until dusk the running mate of Governor Roosevelt rushed from one political conference to another. Between them he told whoever asked that "the whole situation is beautiful."

As he left his train, he expressed a "hope and belief" that former Governor Roosevelt will "give his whole-hearted support to the national ticket within a short time."

After his first conference, he said: "Why, it looks as if we're going to get a lot of votes we never got before. It looks like we'd get 90 per cent of the railroad vote, for instance."

He put in a long-distance call for the telephone beaming.

"He seemed to be happy and quite content about the outlook," the speaker said.

After he had conferred with every important leader at national headquarters, he declared:

"I tell you, you'd see an overwhelming democratic victory if the election were held tomorrow."

The only time a frown came to his face was when someone mentioned the chief purpose of his trip east.

He said: "I believe that beer and wine should be permitted, but that the saloon and distilled spirits should remain outlawed. I consider good wine a wholesome tonic, an aid to digestion and a humanizing influence."

REV. CHASE HITS POLING FOR SUPPORTING HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Referring to the projected airplane campaign of Dr. Daniel A. Poling in support of President Hoover's candidacy, the Rev. William Sheafe Chase, superintendent of the International Reform Federation, said in a statement, "Surely he must realize the eighteenth amendment will be safer if Mr. Hoover is defeated than if he is re-elected."

"Mr. Hoover, after having said the eighteenth amendment can't be enforced, will be unable in the future to enforce prohibition as well as in the past," Canon Chase said.

On behalf of employees, the chairman of all crafts on the Erie railroad system wish to express our appreciation through you to Governor Roosevelt for the address delivered at Salt Lake City. No one can understand the importance and the wisdom of that program better than the railroad men. It will, if in operation, be of material benefit to the public, railroads and employees.

"OVERWHELMING" VICTORY SEEN BY DIXIE SOLONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Representative McReynolds, of Tennessee, today told newspapermen that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt would carry his state "overwhelmingly."

"Contrary to what Representative J. Will Taylor, republican, Tennessee, said about Tennessee going republican, it will go overwhelmingly democratic," McReynolds said.

Representative Vinson, of Georgia, said the south go solid for the democratic national ticket and President Hoover does not have a chance."

FORMER LEGION CHIEF TO SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

WARSAW, N. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Henry L. Stevens Jr., back home today after completing a year as national commander of the American Legion, announced he would campaign for the national democratic executive committee after a short rest.

"I am going to spend about three weeks at my camp in Onslow county," he said, "just resting up. Then I am going to New York to report to the democratic national committee. I don't know where they will send me."

Stevens said "this will probably take my time until after the November elections. Beyond that, I haven't completed my plans."

PLUNGE IS FATAL TO S. B. BAUKNIGHT

Social Circle Youth Dies 12 Hours After Falling Down Stone Mountain.

Injuries received Sunday afternoon in a 350-foot fall from the steep side of Stone Mountain, caused the death early Monday morning of Sam B. Bauknight, 24, of Social Circle. Bauknight slipped near the top of the mountain and plunged down the side until his body lodged behind the tool house near the hat brim of General Robert E. Lee in the Confederate memorial carving. He was brought to Grady hospital, where he died 12 hours later.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole, Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Young Bauknight formerly resided in Atlanta, and was on his way to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lynn, near Social Circle, with his uncle, when they decided to visit the mountain top. A piece of loose soil caused Bauknight's foot to slip after he had gone beyond the safety fence, and he rolled and plunged more than 350 feet until his body hit the wooden steps. His skull was fractured and he received internal injuries, it was said.

The fall was witnessed by a large crowd of persons who were visiting the scene where sculptors have twice left unfinished a giant memorial to the Confederate veterans. Several men, though believing that Bauknight had been killed instantly in the fall, rushed up the steps and lowered the unconscious youth to the ground in a stretcher tied with ropes. He was delivered when he reached the hospital.

SMALL BOY POISONED IN STRANGE MANNER

FORT WAXIE, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Sammy Tovey, age 14, lay in a local hospital today while detectives sought to determine the source of poisoned food scattered through the neighborhood in which his parents live. A number of the neighborhood dogs have been poisoned in like manner.

French Hollis, democrat, of New Hampshire, who voted for the prohibition amendment in 1919, but now says he is an authority on French wines, arrived Sunday on his second visit to the United States in 13 years.

He said he came from Paris with two convictions: that the eighteenth amendment is a failure and that Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the next president.

"I see nothing incompatible," he said, "between a belief in prohibition as the best system for the United States and the enjoyment of the fine wines of France. I have now concluded, however, that prohibition will not work in our country as the laws stand at present."

"I believe that beer and wine should be permitted, but that the saloon and distilled spirits should remain outlawed. I consider good wine a wholesome tonic, an aid to digestion and a humanizing influence."

REV. CHASE HITS POLING FOR SUPPORTING HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Referring to the projected airplane campaign of Dr. Daniel A. Poling in support of President Hoover's candidacy, the Rev. William Sheafe Chase, superintendent of the International Reform Federation, said in a statement, "Surely he must realize the eighteenth amendment will be safer if Mr. Hoover is defeated than if he is re-elected."

"Mr. Hoover, after having said the eighteenth amendment can't be enforced, will be unable in the future to enforce prohibition as well as in the past," Canon Chase said.

On behalf of employees, the chairman of all crafts on the Erie railroad system wish to express our appreciation through you to Governor Roosevelt for the address delivered at Salt Lake City. No one can understand the importance and the wisdom of that program better than the railroad men. It will, if in operation, be of material benefit to the public, railroads and employees.

"OVERWHELMING" VICTORY SEEN BY DIXIE SOLONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Representative McReynolds, of Tennessee, today told newspapermen that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt would carry his state "overwhelmingly."

"Contrary to what Representative J. Will Taylor, republican, Tennessee, said about Tennessee going republican, it will go overwhelmingly democratic," McReynolds said.

Representative Vinson, of Georgia, said the south go solid for the democratic national ticket and President Hoover does not have a chance."

FORMER LEGION CHIEF TO SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

WARSAW, N. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Henry L. Stevens Jr., back home today after completing a year as national commander of the American Legion, announced he would campaign for the national democratic executive committee after a short rest.

"I am going to spend about three weeks at my camp in Onslow county," he said, "just resting up. Then I am going to New York to report to the democratic national committee. I don't know where they will send me."

Stevens said "this will probably take my time until after the November elections. Beyond that, I haven't completed my plans."

'STRANGLING' IS LAID TO INDUSTRY HEADS

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A declaration that employers—the nation over—are "strangling their own industries" by indiscriminate wage cutting and forced reductions was made tonight in an address by Miss Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau of the United States department of labor.

Miss Anderson cited figures which she said showed the cost of living had dropped only 18 per cent in the last two years. During that same period, she said, department of labor statistics showed pay rolls in a large number of typical factories decreased 54 per cent and employment dropped 33 per cent.

"Wages have been cut before dividing large numbers of employees have been dropped, working hours lengthened, overtime without extra wages imposed, vacations with pay abolished. Industrialists are caught in a whirlpool of competition that causes untold disaster."

"Wage earners, through no fault of their own, are slipping farther and farther from the high water standards of better times and former progress. And among the workers, women are being carried to the lowest levels of all, because in general they have been exploited more than men in regard to long hours and low wages."

BRAZIL TO IMPRISON ERSTWHILE PRESIDENT

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Arthur da Silva Bernardes, leader of the abortive Minas Gerais revolt, will be held a prisoner in the summer palace on Rio de Janeiro, which he had built for himself when he was president of Brazil.

Dr. Borges de Medeiros, prominent leader of Sao Paulo rebels, left here today under guard for Rio de Janeiro. He, too, will be imprisoned in the Rio island palace.

R. F. C. Office in Macon Will Open in 15 Days

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Representative Vinson, of Georgia, Monday said he had been advised by Reconstruction Corporation officials that the $3,000,000 Agricultural Credit Corporation office at Raleigh, N. C., and its branch at Macon, Ga., would be opened within 15 days.

"The opening of this institution will be a great help to the farmers in the southeast," the Georgia democrat added.

Vinson said he came to Washington specifically to urge that the credit office be placed in operation as quickly as possible.

WIFE SHOTS WOMAN AT HUSBAND'S PARTY

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella May Yon, 23, was in a critical condition at a local hospital from effects of gunshot wounds she received at a party here yesterday morning.

Police held Mrs. Frank Halfrich, who they say did the shooting.

Police said the shooting took place during a party in the Halfrich home. The officers said they learned Mrs. Halfrich, who has not been living with her husband, went to his home while the party was in progress, obtained a rifle and fired four shots into Mrs. Yon's back.

Sterchi's Leads the South in Sales of Circulators and Heaters

In being ever alert to give to the housewives of the South the latest styles in homefurnishings and conveniences carrying the newest improvements, Sterchi's has gained an enviable reputation for leadership in sales.

Among the most popular articles sold is the circulator for heating homes not having steam heat or similar heating equipment. The method of heating with circulators has proven to be not only very satisfactory, but economical and healthful, which means a great deal to the average family who needs must operate the home on a minimum budget.

Sterchi's features the complete "Atlanta Line" of the Atlanta Stove Works, who have spent forty years in manufacturing stoves and heaters. This line is very wide, including stoves and heaters for all purposes and in every required size.

The line made by the Atlanta Stove Works is unequalled in the South. Only the finest grade of materials and very best workmanship go into the making of these heaters and stoves. Original patterns are carefully designed to guarantee perfect fit of all parts and efficient operation. All parts are easily replaced and easy to keep clean. Carefully supervised manufacture assures long service of any heater or stove made by this concern.

The Atlanta Stove Works guarantee of perfect satisfaction is augmented by Sterchi's guarantee, assuring every owner of this heating equipment constant and satisfactory service.

Beauty has gone into the construction of all these stoves and heaters and the finish and trimming add to their attractiveness. Circulators that are as decorative as fine radio cabinets are finished in walnut to harmonize with fine homefurnishings. Stoves in graceful lines made of blue polished steel and beautifully finished and trimmed in nickel. Cast iron parts add durability.

During the balance of this month your choice of sufficient wall paper in patterns up to twenty-five cents a roll, or a heavy part-wood blanket will be given free with the purchase of a circulator. Also a floor mat, pipe and installation are free.

With cold weather already begun, the largest display of circulators and heaters in every size and style at Sterchi's will be of much interest and a visit to see this display will prove the quickest, easiest and most satisfactory solution of your heating problem. A "warm" welcome awaits you at Sterchi's.—(adv.)

Girl Scout Troops Will Meet For Reorganization Wednesday

Girl Scout Troop of St. Mark's Methodist church on Peachtree street has reorganized and has chosen as leaders Mrs. Jerome M. Levy and Miss Lottie Reed. Mrs. Levy was the captain of Troop 10 when it was first organized at the Tenth Street school several years ago, and will renew her membership with this troop.

The following girls are first-class Scouts registered with Troop 10: Misses Charlotte Galbraith, Beatrice Rothchild, Jean Chalmers, Nell Echols and Kathleen Stoney. These girls are always active in troop and city activities and have been campers at Civitania several seasons, where they received their pioneer merit badge this summer. Other girls in the troop who were at Civitania are Misses Norrine Huey, Penn Hammond, Annie Laurie Kurtz, Henriette Jander, Kathleen Huck, Edna Klein and Anne Crosswell.

June Moore, Rebecca Fillingame, Mayra Samuel, Opal and Morris are members of the troop and are second-class Scouts. The troop meets in the Scout room back of the church where the meetings were held last year and any girl desiring to become a Girl Scout as well as all the old members are requested to be present Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

Another troop to begin activities for the season is the one at E. Rivers school under the direction of Mrs. Trimble Johnson, who will again be lieutenant. The first meeting will be held in the kindergarten room Wednesday afternoon immediately at the close of the school.

Mrs. Johnson is extending an invitation to the following members to attend this meeting: Mary McDonald, Lila Jones, Frances Lucas, Virginia Milner, Clara Hewlett, Janelle Dunn, Eleanor Murrah, Mary Hodgson, Dorothy Dean, Isabel Vretmen, Emma McGinty, Joan Briggs, Mildred Kennedy, Mary Lewis, Aileen Lancaster, Mamie Hallman, Elsie McCall, Annie Chatam, Nancy Wolf, May Welch, Mary Carter, Zlata Ros, Peggy-wich, Mary Elizabeth Beers, Elizabeth Russell, Virginia Mott, Gladys Randall, Mary Alice Shores, Kitty Lou Mote, Mary Pans Person, Patricia Ward and Emmeline Carter.

Troop 32, under the leadership of Mrs. Oscar Strauss Jr., will have its first meeting in the troop room on Seminole avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the girls listed are: Anne Armstrong, Loree Bartlett, Louise Basmajian, Mary Calhoun, Lois Cooley, Margaret Cooper, Martha Dunn, Margaret Eisman, Elizabeth Epstein, Ruth Eyles, Rabbette First, Mildred Epstein, Grace Goldstein, Barbara Hans, Leila Harris, Evelyn Hatchell, Jane Herrington, Hazel Hirsch, Betty Jackson, Marjorie Hirsch, Sarah Louise Kuhn, Betty Landis, Annie Asher, Susanate, Peggy Ray, Margaret Smith, Gay Swagerty, Marion Sterne, Frances Sterne, Joanne Strassberger, Marie Strauss, Lucile Troutman, Peggy Well, Elanec Wena, Glenwyn Young, Sallie Lou Howe, Marion Minbert, Anne Cochran, Elizabeth Johns, Racie Filaturner, Frances Asher, Susanate, Williamson, June Hausberger, Jane Jones, Margaret Black, Roslyn Nowell, Doris Hughes, Mildred Collier, Carol Sands, Jane Sherman, Caroline Loeb, Marion Nowell, Dorothy Barrett, Yvonne Crumley and Louise Simms.

Miss Rebekah Torrance Is Guest of Honor Mrs. Lang Weds Boris Von Arnold

Miss Rebekah Torrance and James Max Weaver, whose marriage will be solemnized October 2 at the First Methodist church, continue to be the subject of a number of parties prior to their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Bingham L. Vick will honor Miss Torrance and Mr. Weaver this afternoon at dinner. Wednesday evening Miss Louise Seaborn will entertain this young couple at her home on Candler street at a bridge party.

Mrs. Charles Arthur Ross entertained Saturday at a luncheon at her home on Nineteenth street in Ansley Park in honor of Miss Torrance.

The guests included Miss Leila Williams, Mrs. L. S. Thompson, Mrs. Robert Callahan, Mrs. J. P. Clark, Mrs. M. W. Torrance, Mrs. J. M. McMullin and Mrs. James M. Greene.

After luncheon Miss Torrance was given a linen shower. Mrs. Ross was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. James M. Greene.

Mrs. Morris Makes Schedule for Classes.

Mrs. Emma Garrett Morris conducts a complimentary study class on contemporary literature on Friday, September 30, at 10:30 o'clock, at her residence, 485 Peachtree street. "Of These I Sing" and other political skills will be the subject on that particular day.

The schedule and subjects of her classes thereafter will be as follows: October 7, Charles Morgan, "The Fountain"; October 14, Arnold Bennett; October 21, Conrad Aiken, of Savannah, Pulitzer prize 1930 for poems; October 28, Paul Osborn, "The Vinegar Tree"; November 4, Pearl Buck, "Sons"; November 11, Le Blanc, Souvenir (Her Life with Maeterlinck); November 18, Khalil Gibran (poet-prophet); and November 25, Rachel Crother, "As Husband Go."

Miss Ruth Brooke Is President Of Atlanta Alumnae of Chi Omega

Miss Ruth Brooke, a popular member of the Sigma Gamma chapter, was elected president of the Atlanta alumnae of Chi Omega National society, at the meeting held recently in Rich's tea room. The corps of officers and the chapters represented, elected to serve with Miss Brooke, were Mrs. Charles W. Young, Delta Alpha, vice president, and Mrs. Fred L. Russell, Mu Beta, chapter correspondent. The following were re-elected to office: Mrs. Lee J. Loeb, Mu Beta, secretary; Mrs. W. D. Brewer Jr., Sigma Gamma, treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Patterson, Sigma Gamma, publicity chairman.

It is interesting to note the different fields of work the officers represent. Miss Ruth Brooke maintains a studio of related arts specializing in dancing and expression; Mrs. Lee J. Loeb is the secretary to the director of the division of information and statistics of the state department of dancing in Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. W. D. Brewer Jr. is the secretary for C. F. Childs & Co.; Mrs. Fred Russell Jr. is a laboratory technician, and Miss Elizabeth Patterson is the fashion copy writer of the advertising department for Rich's, Inc. These occupations might be said to be a result of the influence of the cosmopolitan interests and activities of the national organization of Chi Omega. Plans for a rushing party for the active chapter, Sigma Gamma, at Oglethorpe University, were discussed, and will be announced later. Mrs. Robert T. Woodbury, the retiring president, conducted the election. The other retiring officers are: Miss Thyrza Perry, of Sigma Gamma, vice president, and Miss Ruth Brooke, of Sigma Gamma, chapter correspondent. The next meeting of the alumnae will be held at the Wincoff hotel Saturday, October 1, at 1 o'clock. Reservations for the luncheon preceding the business meeting must be made with Mrs. Charles W. Young, Dearborn 5190-J. Plans for the year's activities will be made, and members are urged to attend.

Jewish Council Fincher-Johnston Chairmen Announced Wedding Plans

Mrs. Armand Wyle, president of the Council of Jewish Women, announces the following committee chairmen to serve for 1932-33: Mesdames Philip Shulhafer, education; Arthur Harris, Travelers' Aid; John Hertzfeld, program; Ernest Horwitz, community co-operation; Edgar Bodenheimer, Battle Hill; Gus Apfelbaum, philanthropic; Ben Fuchs, membership; Stephen Schiffer, publicity; Sam Levy, blind; Ben Massell, deaf; Ralph Uhry, vocational guidance; Henry Solomonson, religious education; Maurice Jacobus, social service; Herman Heyman, peace; Max Goldstein, service to the foreign born; Dewald Cohen, farm and rural; Oscar Elsas, Eggleston hospital; J. I. Bloom, finance; Siegfried Gutman, telephone; Henry Bauer, resolutions; M. L. Hirsch, sewing; Walter Oettinger, music; Arthur Shulhafer, hospitality; Leo Straussberger, stationery; Morris Solomonson and Julius Goldsmith, hospital visiting; Sam Schoen, transportation, and Miss Clementine Haas, associate members.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Virginia Fincher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fincher, of Decatur, and Mr. Philip Johnston, also of Decatur, will be solemnized Saturday, October 1, at 9 o'clock in the evening, at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Jefferson place. Dr. A. J. Moncrief, pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur, will perform the ceremony in the presence of the relatives and close friends of the two families. A lovely program of nuptial music will be rendered by Mrs. A. M. Fincher, mother of the bride-elect, and Miss Lena Mae Fairman, vocalists, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gertrude Wall. Mrs. Carl Watts has been chosen as matron of honor, while the bridesmaids will be Miss Ruth Reitz, Miss Mary Givins, Mrs. Ed Chambers, Miss Mary Hunt, Miss Margaret Bearden, and Miss Louise Crawford. Little Miss Edna Christian Fincher, the small sister of the bride-to-be, will act as flower girl. Ed Chambers will be best man, and the ushers will be Irving Fincher, brother of the bride-elect and Bud Johnston, brother of the future bridegroom. After the ceremony Mr. Johnston and his bride will leave for their trip, after which they will make their home in Decatur.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am married to a fine sweet woman that I love, but ever since I married her another woman has been on my mind to speak. She writes to me, sends me her address every time she has occasion to change it, sends me books with marked paragraphs all references being to love. When she comes to the city where I live she visits my office and is careful to come when my secretary is absent. I like the girl, but I have always been open and above board in all my dealings with everybody, and this business makes me feel sneaking. I watch my mail like a hawk for fear my wife will come upon some letter from this girl. I have a good reputation and have never done anything to smut it, but what is a man to do when a nice woman keeps right after him like this? I know I am partly to blame but it is hard to tell a woman to leave you alone, especially when she is as fond of you as this one seems to be of me. Just give your honest opinion of this and I'll appreciate it.

HARSHED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: No woman stays on a man's trail unless he gives her pretty good reason to believe that her conduct is acceptable, at least no nice woman does. But regardless of the young woman's social status she is behaving in such a way that she doesn't merit your consideration, and if you continue to give it to her you are certain to wreck your marriage, to destroy your wife's happiness, and your own moral character. There are two ways to get rid of the attention of this conscienceless creature that pursues you. One is to tell her frankly that her attentions are odious to you and that you demand that she stop them. The other is to make a clean breast of the whole business to your wife. She will fling a fit when she hears of your woman would be, but after she is sure that you actually want to do the right thing and that you love her, and her only, she will put the finishing touches to the interloper.

"Sin, like a dread disease, we first endure, then pity, then embrace." You are in the second stage of sin in your thought of this woman and the next one is a close hand. Once you enter it you are lost. A crafty woman, once she insinuates herself into a man's thoughts, has him by the scruff of the neck from which hold he cannot extricate himself. All the fair talk about love for your wife, all your righteous talk about preferring to live your life in the open, amounts to just this: you are giving yourself a pat on the back, and one you don't deserve so long as you are having clandestine meetings with another woman and engaging in a secret correspondence with her.

Maybe you think you are considering the feelings of a woman that loves you, but in reality you are "enjoying the pleasures of sin for a season" and what wretchedness you are storing up for yourself you have no idea! To sin with you are sure to get caught. A woman who will do the things that this woman is doing is bold and she will get bolder and bolder. She has nothing to lose and she thinks she has a lot to gain. But in reality she has nothing to gain. If she accomplishes her base purpose of separating you from your wife she won't have your love. You would come to hate her for the injury she had done you, for the harm she had done to your life. But it is not this woman you are concerned with, rather with you and your wife, of whom you are making a fool.

Ann Parish, the novelist, had a story book when she was a child. She loved it very much and lost it. She is now a middle-aged woman and is spending some time in Paris. The other day she was walking on the Quai and spied a little book with the same title as her old favorite. She stopped and bought it and took it home to her husband, telling him that she had longed for a copy of this little book ever since she had reached maturity. He teased her about her sentiment and remarked that he bet she couldn't remember a character in the book or a single incident that was related of any character.

While they sat laughing and chatting she turned the pages and lo! there, written in a childish scrawl, was her maiden name and the address of her parents' home in a midwestern town in the United States. Imagine her delight in this discovery! Some thirty years or more had separated her from the ownership of the volume. Some three or four thousand miles lay between her home and the

To make Puffed Wheat and Rice completely digestible...crisply delicious.

QUAKER PUFFED WHEAT QUAKER PUFFED RICE

Why are Puffed Wheat and Rice "shot from guns"? Because this process breaks open every tiny food cell. Steam cooks the contents. Makes every grain so completely digestible that a single dish of Puffed Grains, with milk and sugar, gives the energy value of a baked potato or lamb chop.

In addition Puffed Grains are now made twice as crisp as ever before. Twice as delicious. Buy them today. No cereal is like "the food that's shot from guns!"

Now "Twice-Crisped!"

Stocking Runs

If she'd only save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings WEAR!

SHE could easily cut down on those embarrassing runs. Other girls do. They make stockings last twice as long by Luxing them after every wearing.

With Lux, you keep your stockings elastic—so the delicate silk threads give under strain—stretch and then spring back into shape without breaking.

Try it yourself! It takes only 2 minutes to Lux a pair of stockings. You'll agree that the easy Lux way of washing saves stocking money—makes even delicate chiffon hosiery wear.

The LUX Way to make stockings last twice as long

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair of stockings.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't use too-warm water—this fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

Don't rub with cake soap. It ruins elasticity. With Lux there's no rubbing! Even stubborn spots come out perfectly if you press a few dry Lux diamonds into the dampened spot.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which robs silk of its life, weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

Keep your hands lovely—use LUX in the dishpan. Costs hardly a cent a day.

For all fits

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 86

With his remaining strength Tarzan turned himself over on his back. He saw Ska wheel quickly upward. With this sight the ape-man's mind cleared for a while. "Is the end so near as that?" he thought. "Does Ska know I am near gone?"

"Even he dares to come down and perch upon my carcass!" And even then a grim smile touched those swollen lips as into the savage mind came a sudden thought—the cunning of a wild beast at bay. Tarzan closed his eyes.

He threw a forearm across his eyes to protect them from Ska's powerful beam. Then he lay very still and waited. It was restless then and Tarzan was dog-tired. He feared he might sleep and something told him he would never awaken.

So he concentrated all his remaining powers upon the one thought of remaining awake. Not a muscle moved. To Ska, circling above, it became evident that the end had come. The man was dead. His long vigil was about to be rewarded!

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With his remaining strength Tarzan turned himself over on his back. He saw Ska wheel quickly upward. With this sight the ape-man's mind cleared for a while. "Is the end so near as that?" he thought. "Does Ska know I am near gone?"

"Even he dares to come down and perch upon my carcass!" And even then a grim smile touched those swollen lips as into the savage mind came a sudden thought—the cunning of a wild beast at bay. Tarzan closed his eyes.

He threw a forearm across his eyes to protect them from Ska's powerful beam. Then he lay very still and waited. It was restless then and Tarzan was dog-tired. He feared he might sleep and something told him he would never awaken.

So he concentrated all his remaining powers upon the one thought of remaining awake. Not a muscle moved. To Ska, circling above, it became evident that the end had come. The man was dead. His long vigil was about to be rewarded!

Senate Is Trying To Discover What Makes Huey's Machine Tick

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—No one laughs or sneers at Huey P. Long, ex-kingfish of Louisiana politics, any more, but the campaign investigating committee of the senate is preparing to give him a good spanking. Senator Tom Connally, of the elections committee, has been designated by its chairman, Senator Howell, of Nebraska, to proceed to New Orleans to find out what makes Huey's machine tick. Connally has asked Senator Bratton, of New Mexico, to go along with him.

The whole thing was a result of the recent primary in Louisiana, in which Huey's hand-picked lieutenant, Congressman John H. Overton, defeated Senator Edwin S. Broussard for the nomination. Broussard claims that the success of Huey and Mr. Overton will bring investigation, and the stage is being set for an interesting show at New Orleans.

If Overton should be successful after this probe, and the senate permits him to occupy Broussard's seat, Louisiana's "loud speaker" will have a little bit of his own in the senate. The Long bloc will include the former kingfish, who now has graduated into the ranks of national figures—a big for little Louisiana—Overton and Senator Hattie Caraway, of Arkansas. Huey's bloc will be small, but under his leadership it could do a lot of heckling while the senate is trying to transact its business. And Huey dearly loves to heckle.

The ex-kingfish personally conducted Mrs. Caraway's primary campaign in Arkansas, and made a tour with the voters by touring the state in a sound-equipped moving picture truck. He brought home the bacon, proving that his political leadership is great enough to permit him to invade successfully the state of his arch-enemy, Senator John Robinson. Then that of the Long followed up the Arkansas success by setting up one of his followers of the lower house, Congressman Overton, against Broussard. Then the kingfish snapped his fingers, and his air-tight, copper-riveted organization went into action. Broussard never knew what hit him, but now that he has recovered consciousness he is going to try to find out how it all happened. And the ensuing weeks will be enlivened, no doubt, by the disclosures piled up by Senators Connally and Bratton.

G. O. P. WET PLANK 'CLUMSY, INSIDIOUS' SAYS W. D. UPSHAW

Though essentially alike, the republican party prohibition platform is "more Robinsonian" than that of the democratic party, former Congressman William D. Upshaw, presidential candidate of the national prohibition party, told a group of Atlanta businessmen Monday at the Business Men's Allied Forces for Prohibition luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce building. He said the republican platform is "clumsy" and "insidious" means for the repeal of the 18th amendment and was even worse than the boldness of the democratic plank.

Congressman Upshaw is in Atlanta to open headquarters at the Wincoff hotel for his race for the presidency of the United States. He was formerly a member of the House of Representatives and resided in Atlanta. Next week he will open headquarters in Philadelphia for another state campaign.

1 Killed, 31 Injured In French Sub Blast

CHEBOURG, France, Sept. 26.—(AP)—An explosion aboard the new French submarine Persee during a trial run off Cherbourg today resulted in the death of one man and in injuries to 31 others.

The explosion was in the outer sheathing of the engines. It was followed by fire, quickly brought under control by the crew. Calls for assistance were sent. Within a short time naval tugs had the submersible in tow. Doctors went aboard to treat the injured. The ship was brought into the harbor to-night.

An inquiry into the accident will begin tomorrow.

HENDERSON DEFENDS FINANCIAL ABILITY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—W. K. Henderson testified today that he was financially able to operate station KWEA, of Shreveport, La. He appeared at a hearing on his application to renew the station's license.

A financial statement placing the net worth of the station at $45,457 was placed in the record while Henderson was being questioned. Profits during 1932 up to August 31 were given as $30,056.

INJURED 2 YEARS AGO, N. F. ROBERTS, 44, DIES

Southern Railway Engineer Hurt in Wreck at McDonough; Well Known Here

Injuries received more than two years ago when his locomotive engine turned over in a train wreck at McDonough, Ga., Newton F. Roberts, 44, engineer on the Southern Railway, caused his death Monday afternoon at his home at 1627 Orlando street. He was a brother of Lieutenant S. J. Roberts, of the Atlanta police department.

Mr. Roberts was hurt two and a half years ago when his engine crashed into a row of box cars on a switch track in McDonough, after a side-track had been thrown open by a negro man, who later was sentenced to prison. All members of the train crew were hurt, but severe injuries about the head had confined Mr. Roberts to his home since the wreck. He had been seriously ill for some time.

A native of Hall county, Mr. Roberts was born near Flowery Branch and came to Atlanta as a youth. He was for eight years a member of the Atlanta police department, and had been with the Southern Railway since 1912. He was a member of the Veterans of the Locomotive Engineers and of the Capital View Baptist church.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Capital View Baptist church, and the pastor, the Rev. W. Lee Cuts, will officiate. Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will have charge of the services at the graveside in Greenwood cemetery.

In addition to his brother, Mr. Roberts is survived by his wife; a daughter, Miss Mary Frances Roberts; a son, Newton F. Roberts Jr.; and six sisters, Mrs. A. S. Kisset, prominent here in the affairs of the Order of the Eastern Star; Mrs. A. F. Duncan, Mrs. A. Olsen, Mrs. W. O. Anderson, Mrs. A. S. Bruggeman, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. A. T. Strickland, of Miami, Fla. J. Austin Dillon in charge.

NOTED COUNSEL ADDED TO LIBBY HOLMAN STAFF

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Twin City Sentinel says a battery of North Carolina's leading criminal lawyers has been mobilized for the defense of Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway singer, and Albert (Ab) Walker, charged with the pistol murder of the former's husband, Zachary Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions.

There was no confirmation from official sources, but the Sentinel says it has learned authoritatively that James H. Claggett, Jr., and Claude Webb discovered a small still in the Crossville district, in old Milton county Monday, and arrested Miller, the still was not in operation.

2 MEN FOUND DEAD ON ALABAMA ROAD

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Two men were found dead tonight 10 miles northwest of here on the Birmingham-Mount Pinson highway after a car crash. The sheriff's office said that his automobile ran over two men lying in the road. The men were identified as F. J. Manning, 50, and L. C. Dunlap, 45, both of Mt. Pinson.

The autopsy, J. G. Shaw, said his car ran over the two men before he saw them in the road. County Investigator G. M. Evans had completed his investigation tonight, but Deputy Sheriff W. A. Snow said the two men apparently fell asleep on the roadside, after sitting down to rest.

TAX LEAGUE OF ROME HEARS MIZELL TONIGHT

R. C. Mizell, president of the Atlanta Taxpayers' League, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Rome Taxpayers' League tonight in Rome, it was announced Monday. Mr. Mizell will address the Rome group at the invitation of Barry Wright, prominent Rome businessman and civic leader.

Open houses will be held by the Atlanta league during the next few months, and efforts will be made to show the people exactly where the money paid for taxes goes. City and county officials will be urged to tell the league of their problems so that every citizen can be fully acquainted with the facts.

Dorrance Estate To Pay $21,000,000 to State

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The supreme court today held Pennsylvania entitled to collect $21,000,000 inheritance tax from the estate of Dr. John T. Dorrance, creator of the Campbell Soup Company.

The court decided Dorrance was a resident of Radnor, Pennsylvania, at the time of his death, September 21, 1930, in Burlington county, N. J. The decision reversed the finding of the Delaware county orphans court, which upheld the executors' contention that the financier was a resident of New Jersey.

Dorrance's estate was variously valued at $112,000,000 to $200,000,000. The supreme court's decision sets its valuation at $115,000,000.
